JILTED LOVER MAY PROVE UNDOING OF "SHOOTING SHIEK"

Durkin Shaken When City Sweetheart Turns State's Evidence

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Love tangles in the life of Martin Durkin, today tightened the noose which the state is preparing for him.

Betty Andrews Werner, the city sweetheart Durkin forsook to marry a village beauty, has turned against him and will testify for the prosecution. The weight of her testimony is believed by the state to be sufficient to send Chicago's "Shooting Sheik" to the gallows.

News that Betty had forsaken him shook some of the bravado out of Durkin. It cast a shadow over his jail cell which even his bravest smiles could not dispel.

Ever since his capture, Marty had boasted that Betty would be loyal to him—that she "would die rather than squeal." Even though he had left her alone in the city with a baby she claims was his while he ran off and married Irma Sullivan, the pretty blacksmith's daughter, of Cornell, Ill., he was confident she would forgive and remain true.

But Betty saw the beautiful bride that Marty had chosen and decided against loyalty for the man she had protected in many of his serious scrapes.

"I want to stay in the custody of the state's attorney" were the word that revealed Betty's decision. She spoke them when Durkin's mother tried to have her released so she could not be forced to give evidence against him. The words indicated her intention to give state's testimony.

"So they have made you bitter against me, have they?" Durkin pleaded.

"They? They? You did it yourself?" Betty replied and turned away.

Durkin was to be arraigned today in criminal court and will be asked to enter his plea—"guilty" or "not guilty." It is expected to be the latter. If so, the date for trial will probably be set at once and the state will attempt to convict him of murdering Edward Shananan, the first of his murder victims.

HEADLESS TORSO IS IDENTIFIED; CLUE MAY LEAD TO ARREST

Victim Disappeared From Philadelphia Relatives Say

Media, Pa., Jan. 22.— The headless torso of a young woman found in the woods near here late yesterday afternoon was identified today as that of Miss Anna May Dietrich, 34, of Norwood, by state police.

The identification was made by A. F. Dahlsto, a state policeman, who obtained a description of the girl from the victim's sister, Mrs. A. L. Schul, who also lives in Norwood, a community near Philadelphia.

Immediately following identification police announced they had clues to the murder which may lead to an arrest today.

A thorough search of the woods failed to reveal the head of the slain woman. Her legs were found fifteen feet from the torso, wrapped in a piece of heavy brown paper and heavily bound with straps.

Also near the mutilated corpse were three clean, white handkerchiefs. One had the imprints of teeth marks and is believed to have been used as a gag.

Bruises on the knuckles of her right hand indicated the victim had struggled with the fiend who killed her.

The woman's legs had been severed cleanly, examination disclosed. A sharp instrument in the hands of one with a knowledge of surgery was used, police believe.

After a farmer near here had told of seeing an automobile in the vicinity of the spot where the torso was found, police admitted they were working on the theory that the woman had been kidnapped and killed and brought here by the slayer.

A tiny wristwatch bearing the inscription "From H. B. Z. to T. T." may supply police with new information. Relatives of the slain woman were reluctant to discuss the affair but will be questioned further today by authorities.

The slain woman disappeared Tuesday in Philadelphia after a shopping tour with her sister, Mrs. Alexander Schul.

KIRBY MAY TESTIFY IN TRIAL FOR FRAUD

Cleveland, Jan. 22 — Josiah Kirby, former head of the Cleveland Discount Company, on trial on charges of defrauding scores of investors through use of the mails, may testify in his own behalf late today, it was indicated when court reconvened today.

A number of former stockholders and salesmen also were to be called by the defendant. Just before the government rested its case yesterday, Ray L. Pollard, former treasurer of the company was recalled and testified Kirby altered the company's financial statements.

"Where an actual deficit existed, the financial statements showed a surplus of more than $1,000,00," Pollard testified.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR FIVE VICTIMS

Alliance, O., Jan. 22—Firemen today still were searching for bodies in the smouldering embers of the Karevich farm home near here where yesterday Mrs. Mary Karevich and three little daughters, Mary, Anna and Dorothy, were burned to death.

The bodies of Mary and Anna have been recovered and firemen expect to reach the remains of Mrs. Karevich and Dorothy this afternoon.

Mrs. Karevich died in a heroic effort to save the tots from death. In another part of the house, her husband led and carried four sons to safety.

SO THIS IS AMERICA! FLORIDA SUFFERS FROM HEAT AS MERCURY DROPS IN NORTH

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 22—Tourists and Floridans sweltered through a sticky, hot tropical night and many bathing parties found some relief from the heat wave which has gripped this section for several days.

For the last three days the government thermometer has climbed to 76, while a hot sun beat down through a sultry atmosphere that was almost oppressive.

After a week of spring-like days, the city was swept by snow storms today while cold winds sent the mercury down.

Chicago, Jan. 22—Sub-zero temperatures chilled the heart of the middlewest today. Thermometers in Chicago's loop registered five below zero this morning.

SPANISH AVIATOR STARTS EFFORT TO FLY ACROSS OCEAN TO BRAZIL

Flyer Hopes To Steal Italian Laurels And Be First To Fly From Europe To Argentine—Signals Heard At Wireless Stations

Franco wirelessed the Teneriffe station shortly before noon that the flight was satisfactory and the station sent him a report on meteorological conditions.

"Keep signaling, I hear you perfectly," Franco wirelessed back.

(Later the Les Palmas station was in direct communication with him.)

Huelva, Spain, Jan. 22.—Hailed as a sort of Columbus of the air, Commander Ramon Franco, Spanish war flier, started today a flight to Beunos Aires from within the zone of the Huelva-Palos Canal whence Christopher Columbus in 1492 set out on his voyage which brought discovery of a new world.

Franco and his associat, Lieut. Alda, made their start shortly before 8 a. m. today while the populace of the little town in a frenzy of enthusiasm cheered them until they were lost to view across the waters.

The route across the ocean to the Argentine capital is by way of the Canaries, Cape Verde Islands, Fernando De Noronha in mid-Atlantic and Brazil.

Franco hopes to be the first Spanish aviator to complete the flight from Europe to Argentina. He has before him the record of two Portuguese colleagues in 1922 in a flight from Lisbon to Brazil and he has the opportunity to grasp from Italy the laurels that country hoped to win when Casa Grande set out for Buenos Ailes only to be halted before he was faily under way.

American Author Receives French Legion of Honor

TREASURER'S WIDOW APPOINTED TO OFFICE

Indianapolis, Jan. 22.—Through a death-bed promise made to her husband ,Mrs. Ben H. Urbahas today prepared to step into the office of State Treasurer—the first woman in the history of Indiana to hold a major state office.

Urbahas, who was serving the first term as treasurer of state went to the hospital for an operation with a promise from Gov. Ed Jackson that in event o fhis death, his wife would be named to fill his unexpired term.

Urbahas died last night and Gov. Jackson announced he was prepared to name the widow to the office.

JUDGE FALSIFIED RECORDS IS CHARGE

Washington, Jan. 22.—A charge that Federal Judge Harry B. Anderson of Memphis, had falsified records in 47 cases before his western Tennessee court was made by E. J. Heidel, former deputy clerk of the court, in testimony before the senate committee investigating opposition to Anderson's nomination.

One record was made to show that his defendant and his attorney were in court although they were not present, Heidel said.

BOURSE ON STRIKE

Paris, Jan. 22—The Paris Bourse went on general strike today and noted no quotations except for foreign exchange. The strike was in protest against the Left Cartel's plan for a tax on bourse transactions.

JEWEL ROBBERS STEAL $25,000

West Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 22—Aristocratic Palm Beach again has been "touched" by jewel robbers according to reports today. Miss Muriel McCormick is reported to be the latest victim of the clever gem thieves who have been operating here since the winter season opened.

Although police denied knowledge of the theft, it was reported that Miss McCormick lost about $26,000 worth of jewelry, while a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. McKinlock.

DARROW TO DEBATE WITH TOLEDO PASTOR

Toledo, Jan. 22.—Clarence Darrow, noted Chicago criminal lawyer and agnostic, will debate the "immortality of the soul," with the Rev. Elwood Rowsey here the night of January 30. It was announced previously, through a misinterpretation of dates, that the debate would be held the night of January 20.

The contemplated debate is the result of a controversy carried on between the two since Darrow heard Dr. Rowsey speak in Detroit last summer, following the Scopes evolution trial in Tennessee.

CHILD UNCONSCIOUS SINCE ACCIDENT

Cleveland, O., Jan .22.—Fern Florida, aged 6, today entered her ninth day of unconsciousness. Fern was struck by an automobile on Jan. 12.

Attendants are feeding her milk, broth and fruit juice through a tube. Fern was hurrying from school when she ran behind a parked car into the path of another machine. The woman driver could not stop.

Fern was dragged several feet. She suffered a fractured skull, concussion of the brain, a fractured thigh and other injuries.

HIGHWAY COMMITTEE MEETS IN COLUMBUS

Columbus, Jan. 22.—The legislative highway committee in session here today was planning its itinerary for an examination trip to be made of highways of Illinois, Wisconsin and Maryland.

Highway Director Schlesinger was before the committee late Thursday explaining in detail the organization of his department, its policies with relation to maintenance and construction.

Pair Named as Co-Respondents in Divorce Suits to Wed Soon

Word comes from Paris that the Marchioness of Queensbury (above) and Sir James Dunn, Canadian financier, are to be married in the French capital. Each has been divorced and has been named as co-respondent with the other.

OHIO PASTORS TAKE ACTION CONDEMNING DRAFT LAWS AND WAR

Church Should Not Approve or Sanction War Is Belief

Columbus, Jan. 22.—Anti-war resolutions, holding that the chuch should neither "approve nor sanction" war, were adopted by the Ohio Pastors Association at the closing session of a three day convention here. The resolutions condemning draft laws, defense test day and scholastic military training, were a part of the report of the committee on international relations.

The section opposing war read in part:

"We hold that the individual conscience never should be suborned by the state for engagement in war, and that the church as a universal organization never should give it's sanction to the state in the prosecution of any war."

In condemning scholastic military training, the report said:

"Such training is contrary to the best interests of education, weakens the will to peace and in no wise is effective as a measure of national safety."

The convention also adopted a resolution condemning "any immigration policy that would create a labor reserve" but favored the repeal of all laws discriminating against the immigration of Asiatics.

GIRL IS ATTACKED; CLUBBER NOT BLAMED

Toledo, Jan. 22—The theory that the Toledo clubber attacked Miss Dorothy Burton, 20, shortly after she alighted from a street car last night was discredited by both the girl and the police today. The man who attacked the girl, beating her with his fists, alighted from the same street car, followed her for a short distance and then, with provocation, struck her.

Miss Burton screamed. Her parents rushed from their home, just as the girl's assailant faded into the night.

OPPOSED TO MILITARY

Columbus, O., Jan. 22—Men students at Ohio State University have voted ten to seven against compulsory military training. The vote was:

Compulsory training, 701; optional training, $1,099.

All colleges of the University are opposed to compulsory training except the engineering department, the vote revealed.

All the students believe some form of military training has had a place in the University curriculum, but are against compulsory training.

CARDINAL MERCIER IS BELIEVED DYING AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Prince Visits Bedside Of Prelate—Death Matter of Days

Brussels, Jan. 22—Cardinal Mercier, Belgium's hero churchman, is dying. The end may be delayed a few days, but his life is gradually ebbing away and physicians give no hope that he can recover.

He is facing death with a courage, calmness and firmness such as marked his life and especially his war time course when he defied the German war lords and balked them when they sought to silence him.

Today Crown Prince Leopold went to the revered churchman's bedside bearing flowers to add to the great masses sent him constantly.

The Prince knelt beside the bed and tears came into his eyes as he gazed upon the dying cardinal.

Feebly, the Cardinal extended to the heir to the throne, his blessing and exchanged a fe wwords of welcome, smiling upon Leopold as he spoke.

The Cardinal at present cannot be fed. The stomach ailment which an operation failed to aid has left him in a state where even the slightest food is not retained.

His inability to assimilate any nourishment now is hastening the end, though his remarkable constitution is maintaining him extraordinarily.

RETAINED AT OHIO U

Athens, O., Jan. 22—Dr. E. B. Bryan, president of Ohio University, will remain as head of the school for five years at an annual salary of $9,000. At the request of the board of trustees, Dr. Bryan reconsidered his resignation, submitted some months ago and agreed to retain his post.

SATURDAY TO BRING RELIEF FROM COLD WAVE IS PREDICTER

Storm Wave Strikes Entire Central-West Territory

Columbus, Jan. 22.— With temperatures falling slowly, virtually the entire state was blanketed with snow today and in some sections the flakes were piled into huge drifts, making roads almost impassable. Near-zero temperatures will prevail throughout the state tonight with no prospect of relief until tomorrow morning, the weather bureau announced.

Propelled before a brisk northeast wind snow began falling yesterday afternoon and did not abate until last midnight, when temperatures began falling.

Central and southern Ohio received from four to six inches while between six and ten inches fell in the great lakes section.

Only a few fatalities attributable to the storm, had been recorded at an early hour today.

Adjacent states felt the blast this morning.

Iowa reported temperatures in most sections between zero and five below. Northern Indiana had zero weather and the central and southern portions of the state found the mercury rapidly falling.

Wisconsin reported temperatures between three and seven degrees below zero with the mercury still dropping.

Minnesota and Nebraska had snow and sub-zero temperatures.

Freezing temperatures or lower were general over the area east and west except for a few points along the gulf coast, and the coast line of the Pacific.

STAY GRANTED IN SEGREGATION CASE

Columbus, Jan. 22—The state supreme court today was expected to grant a stay of execution in the case of Earl Reese, colored, Dayton, against the board of education and Paul C. Stetson, Dayton superintendent of schools.

Reese brought action against the board of education following segregation of colored and white children in different schools.

Reese said the city violated state laws in maintaining a separate school for colored children, taught by colored teachers. He alleged the state law prohibited segregation of children because of color.

The Montgomery County court of appeals allowed a writ of mandamus against the school board to provide for the instruction of both colored and white children in the same building under the same teachers.

The board carried the case to the supreme court, where action is now pending.

LEGINSKA FAILS TO RETURN TO NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 22.—Ethel Leginska temperamental pianist, who was reported en route to New York after disappearing from Evansville, Ind., where she failed to fill an engagement, had not arrived at her Park Avenue home here today, a search disclosed. Friends say they had no word from her and it was said she had not returned during the night.

In some circles it was believed the eccentric pianist would remain in seclusion, in some small town, seeking to nurse the frayed nerves which she blamed for being unable to keep her engagement in Evansville.

WORLD COURT OPPONENTS GAIN ONE VOTE AS OKLAHOMAN CHANGES

Washington, Jan. 22—The irreconcilables gained their first convert in the vicious battle they are waging against the world court when an administration senator, W. S. Pine, Oklahoma, Republican, today entered their camp.

"My party is for the world court, but my state is against it and I will vote with my state," Pine said in announcing his position. Previously he had been considered for the court.

With this change, a complete poll of the senate made by the United Press showed the following line up at this point in the battle royal:

Against the Court — Republicans 15; Democrats 3; Farmer-Labor 1; total 19.

This gives the Court 13 more votes than the necessary two-thirds majority for its adoption.

The conversion of Pine gave the filibusterers new life as the administrations pressed harder upon them for a vote. Threats were made that tonight before adjournment, if present tactics continue, a cloture motion will be presented by sixteen administration senatorsasking limitation of the debate.

TOLEDO POLICE SEEK NEW CLUES IN MURDER OF LATEST CLUB VICTIM

Toledo, Jan. 22 — Completely baffled at almost every turn, police today sought new clews in the murder of Miss Mamie Handley, whose hacked and bruised body was found between two houses here Monday.

The only angle now open to investigation, detectives said, is a telephone call from a woman who asked for Detective Culver and Fruehey, declaring she had something to tell in connection with Miss Handley's death. When informed the officers were away, said she would call at the police station.

Officers waited several hours but she failed to appear.

Police are convinced, however, that Orwiller, a former sweetheart of Miss Handley had no connection with the woman's death.

The only remaining theory they say, is that Miss Handley was a victim of the Toledo clubber, whose activities came to a sudden halt here several weeks ago. Previously the police abandoned this theory.

TWO MILLION BOY SCOUTS PLAN TO OBSERVE ANNIVE RSARY WEEK SOON

Sixteen years of Scouting will be celebrated by more than 2,000,000 members of the Boy Scout Council of America during the Sixteenth Anniversary Week from February 6 to 13, inclusive, according to Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury, Xenia.

During the sixteen years now closing it is estimated fully 2,000,000 boys registered as Scouts. More than 12,000 of these have become Eagle Scouts.

During anniversary week, each day has been set aside for some special observance as follows: Feb. 7, Scouting and the Church; Feb. 8, Anniversary Day; Annual Committment to Oath and Law; Feb. 9, Scouting and School Day; Feb. 10, Scouting and Home Day; Feb. 11, Scouting and Service Day; Feb. 12, Lincoln's Birthday, Scouting and Patriotism Day; Feb. 13, Scouting and Good Health Day.

Statistics show there are more than 20,000 men now devoting their time and thought as scoutmasters of Boy Scout Troops, and as many more giving similar service as assistant scoutmasters, in the nation.

The 22,000 Boy Scout troops in the United States are distributed in the proportion of about 55 per cent, or 12,117 in churches, 838 being Roman Catholic Churches, 198 in Jewish, and most of the remainder in Protestant Churches. Remainder are organized in connection with civic organizations, community centers, industrial organizations, libraries and various societies and clubs.

More than 64,000 acres of land, valued at two and one quarter million dollars, and having a capacity of 50,922 Scouts at one time, are now devoted to organized Boy Scout camps, under immediate supervision of 556 local councils.

These statistics, according to Scoutmaster Kingsbury, give some idea of the growth of the Scout movement in the United States since 1910.

The movement has spread over the world and is established in fifty-three countries. Its aims and ideals are everywhere identical, and the program of activities is practically the same, subject to local conditions, he says.

Observance of anniversary week in Xenia will be especially marked in churches, the scoutmaster says. Many local Scouts are also planning to attend the Court of Honor sessions in Dayton when Scouts will receive recognition and merit badges.

Officials at a beauty convention picked what they thought was the ugliest woman in New York and made her beautiful. "Now you can get a beau," they told her. "I already have one," she replied.

An English sparrow, flying south to avoid the cold, went so far that he landed, almost frozen, in Cape Town, South Africa, 6,000 miles away. Around his leg was a ring showing his starting point.

Morris Sherman, of Chicago, about to take a bath in a bath house, discovered it was not Saturday and leaped out a window, breaking both ankles.

A Grand Rapids woman, injured in an auto accident, had a radio installed beside her bed so that she might hear the funeral services of her son, injured in the same accident.

"I didn't want to do it. Get me out of it quick," was the wail of a Wilmington, Del., bride to the minister who had just married her to a New Jersey youth.

It was all right for a Boston husband to punch, slap and choke his wife, she told a judge. But when he resented her bobbed hair and cut off the rest of it she announced she was through.

RESCUE WORKERS TO STAGE REVIVAL

Revival services will begin January 29 at the American Rescue Workers, in charge of Col. Bybee and wife, assisted by Captain Harrison, Dutch evangelist, all from Dayton, O.

Old-time preaching and singing will be featured during the meetings. Evening services will start at 7:30 in the building formerly occupied by the Church of God, S. Detroit St. The public is invited.

CONQUER CONSTIPATION EASILY

Mr. McEnery tried part-bran substitutes — but only ALL-BRAN brought complete relief. Here's what he says:

"For fifteen years I was constantly bothered with constipation. . . . About two years ago I tried out mixed bran and corn flakes but did not get much relief. Some eighteen months ago, I began using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. From the first week to this good day, I have never had to take a dose of any laxative medicine of any description."

JAMES D. MCENERY,
R. F. D. No. 4, Alto, Texas.

Constipation is the enemy of health. The cause of more than forty diseases. Don't let this insidious trouble send its poisons through your body. Pimples, spots before the eyes, indigestion and headaches—are warning signs.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation or your money is refunded. Delicious with milk, fruit or with other cereals. Fine in cooking.

Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere.

WOMEN ALWAYS IN BUSINESS, CLUB TOLD

Women have been "in business" seventy-five years, according to Miss Alice Englehardt, secretary-treasurer, Potter Shoe Co., Cincinnati and national finance chairman, Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, who addressed the Xenia B. P. W. Club, at the Knights of Pythias Hall, Thursday evening.

In fact, women have always been "in business," according to Miss Englehardt, who cited the times when women spun and made the clothes of her family, made the soap, candles and helped build her home, besides rearing a family and cooking the meals.

First doctors were women, since they first brewed the herbs into tea for illness, and women have always been the world's real nurses, she said.

"The World War brought about the emancipation of women," Miss Englehardt told the Xenia business women. "Before the war, the business girl was socially ostracized," she declared. "Woman performed Herculean tasks in the war, made an impression on the world and won her rightful place.

"No matter how big a success you are in business, don't forget you are a woman," she told her audience. "Any place in business or professional life which has been rightfully won by a woman belongs to her. We don't want laws based on sex lines, they should be based on lines of industry.

"Business women are handicapped by 'women laws' which have been inflicted on them by women of leisure," she said. Miss Englehardt criticized the minimum wage and declared that women have undivided loyalty and efficiency in their work which entitles them to fairer wages.

"We don't want to take men's jobs but we want an even break," she said. "When women do as much work and have the ability as men, they should receive the same pay. Women always have dependents and responsibility.

"Trouble with women is that they too often lack self-faith, start at the bottom and are content to stay there because they are women. Qualities of the business woman are intelligence, imagination—the ability to 'dream'—to finih the job placed before them and to regard and care for their health. Women too often 'dream' the little dreams and let men visualize the big things and accomplish them.

"We are not the weaker sex. We stay on the job when the men don't—often stay too long.

"Business women make the best wives," she said, "because they are able to take care of money and understand men."

Miss Englehardt's address was the main feature of the club meeting, following the regular dinner and business session. Covers were laid for eighty club members at tables appointed in rainbow colors. Club songs were sung during dinner.

Mrs. Laura Alexander, close friend of Miss Englehardt, entertained a group of club members at her home on E. Second St., after the meeting, for the pleasure of Miss Englehardt, her houseguest.

RECENT BRIDE HONOR GUEST AT AFTERNOON PARTY

Mrs. Eva Harner and Mrs. Hazel Harner entertained sixty guests at the home of the latter on the Beavercreek Road, Thursday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Hartzell Humston, (Miss Allie Swadener).

The Harner home was daintily decorated in pink and white. Gifts of the guests for Mrs. Humston were placed in a pink and white decked wagon which was drawn into the guest circle by little Ruth Iona Swadener, niece of the bride and Bobby Harner, both dressed in pink and white. Mrs. Humston received many handsome gifts.

Out-of-town guests at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Alexander and family; Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, Dayton and Mrs. Russel Hite and daughter, Carolyn, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Humston are residing with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Swadener, Springfield pike.

ALLEGED CHICKEN THIEF TO BE SENT TO PENITENTIARY

Wayne Everett, 47, arrested last Saturday for implication in the theft of fifty-eight chickens from the farm of Charles Sheridan, Paintersville Road, will be returned to the Ohio State prison farm at London, O., from which he escaped in July, 1925, to complete a one to twenty year sentence, according to Prosecutor J. Carl Marshall.

Sheriff Morris Sharp was notified Thursday by officials at Ohio State Penitentiary that it is optional whether Everett is returned to resume his prison term or face a charge of grand larceny in Greene County courts.

Letters were received by the sheriff from D. J. Bonzo, parole and record clerk at the penitentiary and F. M. Current, Bertillion superintendent, that Everett had escaped from London, July 19. Descriptions also tallied.

The chicken theft charge will not be pressed against him at this time since Everett has a longer term to serve of his sentence by Chillicothe courts for auto tire thefts than could be imposed in Greene County, it is said. Expense of the trial will also be saved.

Everett had served only four months of his sentence at London when he made his escape.

Wade Allen, colored , and Elmer Sharp, alleged companions of Everett, have been bound over to Common Pleas Court and are in county jail, awaiting grand jury action on chicken theft charges.

AS A BANKER SEES IT.

WITH the advent of the new year there has been no lack of retrospect and phophecy, emanating from all manner of sources and received with all degrees of credulence and enthusiasm. Before the season on such things closes, it might not be inappropriate to consider the judgment of a prominent eastern banker, whose position entitles him to an opinion.

The financier in question is James S. Alexander, chairman of the board of directors of the National Bank of Commerce of New York. In an address prepared for delivery before annual meeting of the Shareholders he summarized the state of affairs during the year just commencing.

Real estate activity, by which he presumably means booms in real estate, should encounter a check, involving "a moderate recession of building and construction." Against this tendency working toward less employment are the "offsetting influences" of prospective stable prices, a "marked betterment of the undertone in agriculture" improvement of the general situation in foreign lands, and a well-sustained export demand for American products.

"Business plans for the new year," Mr. Alexander concludes, "may be made with confidence in a continuation of prosperity, but with due allowance for the presence of factors which suggest that 1926 should not be expected to show any great gain over 1925."

Most people will be satisfied without any great gain over the past year. Nineteen twenty-five was a good year in almost all lines of activity, with the possible exception of agriculture, and even in farming it was admittedly better than other years within the memory of men now living.

Observers in every field seem in virtual agreement as to the prospect for 1926 It looks good to them.

THE SALT OF THE EARTH.

"IT IS A RARE accomplishment to fit into people's moods, to know when to speak and when to be silent, when and how to do things, when to stay and when to go. We are fond of people who exercise that accomplishment. They make ideal companions and give life to any social gathering. We call them 'the salt of the earth.' What they really do is to add just enough of themselves to every situation to bring out its highest possibilities."

The words are those of Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of President Coolidge's church, the First Congregational of Washington, D. C. They are not particularly impressive and the idea they clothe is not especially new, but both words and sentiment ring true.

Everyone has known people who were "the salt of the earth." Ever ready to lend a helping hand, they have the faculty of "making themselves at home" and of making others feel at home. They are kind and unselfish, sympathetic and forgiving, cheerful and loyal.

They come into our lives and we accept them as though we had an undisputed right to their acquaintance and friendship. We receive the incalculable benefits of their personal contacts with us as a matter of course. And then when they are gone, when time or distance or death has taken them from us, it dawns upon us that here were rare personalities whose worth we did not appreciate.

After all it brings no glow of satisfaction or pleasure to a man that his friends shall gather round his bier and exchange laudatory comment. He has neither eyes to see nor ears to listen.

If you know a man who is the salt of the earth, tell him what you think of him now. Such unprecedented appreciation may fluster him, but he will survive the shock.

MONEY TO BURN.

A MAN might light his cigar with a $10 bill to show his supreme disregard for its value and be excused for a bit of asininity that hurts only himself. If he burned a bushel basket full of $10 bills every morning of the year, an insanity commission would look into his mental condition. Somebody would call for the help of the army, navy and police force of the nation. Yet, says Collier's, that is exactly what the United States is permitting with its forest reserves where fires impose a loss equivalent to $100,000 daily. Of the 92,000 forest fires last year, "the perfect fools among us," to use Collier's phrase, started 24,000, all of which were preventable.

THRIFT IS A DUTY.

THE fifth annual observance of national thrift week should be more earnest than its predecessors, because the economic situation today is of a character to emphasize the value of thrift.

The benefit of saving has been brought home recently to thousands who previously had given it little thought, and they will be in a receptive mood for the lessons which the civic organizations, the banks and insurance companies are to teach in connection with thrift week.

Thrift does not simply mean putting money in the bank. It calls for protecting one's dependents through life insurance, and in making oneself independent of the landlord by owning a home. Special days have been designated for the consideration of such things as these.

During the war thrift was urged for patriotic reasons. Practice of it today is no less patriotic, because to do that which makes for a greater America is patriotism of the highest sort, and those countries which had the thriftiest inhabitants have always been the greatest.

THE HAPPY HOUSEKEEPER

I have been looking over a pile of letters received from my Reader Friends, preparatory to burning them up—for I never keep letters. It is seldom, indeed, that I have time even to look them over again, after answering them, but today I did so with a purpose: I wanted to gauge the happiness of each writer through her letter.

Many of these housekeeper-correspondents expressed either contentment or dissatisfaction with life, in so many words. Others unconsciously expressed one of these two states of mind by such sentences as: "When I left the office to marry, I thought I'd find housework dull—but instead I find it most exciting!" "It is such fun to master one branch of housekeeping after another." Or "I never seem to catch up with my treadwheel of work." "I am tired all the time."

Whenever I came across one of the cheery letters, I studied it in the hope of finding why its sender was an optimist. And this is the discovery I made: That invariably the happy letter-writers mentioned some other interest beside their housework. These happy women were women who had many interests. Along with the request for some rare recipe, or a query about removing some stain, these optimistic correspondents generally mentioned some side interest—some other kind of work or play in which they were absorbed quite apart from their household duties. Here are several of the outside pursuits mentioned: ("quoted in the correspondents own words):

"I love my cooking, but I am equally as much in love with knitting. I'd rather sit and knit in the evenings than go to the movies." "Thank you for the recipes. Some day I am going to ask your help on new ideas for entertaining. I am a semi-invalid, more or less tied to my home—so entertaining my friends is my greatest joy. I love to plan new wrinkles for guest meals." "Please give me directions for crocheting a rag rug. You were the first one to interest me in rug-making—through an article on hooked rugs by you, printed several years ago. Now I can hardly rush my house ork fast enough to get back to rug-making! It brings me money, too." "Please give me a good brass polish formula. I raise canaries (brass cages), and it keeps me happy and busy every minute I am not cooking or cleaning."

Need I add more testimony to prove that The Happy Housekeeper is she whose life is packed full of many interests.

PLEASURE AND TROUBLE

Pleasure and trouble. This curious pair
Man is apt to encounter most anywhere,
And strangely enough, though it's truth I tell,
Neither is easy to handle well.
Though one is bitter and one is sweet,
Each is a dangerous foe to meet.

Trouble is vulgar and coarse and rough,
Roaring with bluster and bold with bluff,
Sometimes cruel, and sometimes stern,
Giving man nothing but what he'll earn,
But he who will battle him face to face
Shall come from the struggle with added grace.

Pleasure is subtle, with smirks and smiles
And false sweet thrilling and countless wiles;
It steals man's senses or makes him proud
And sets him strutting before the crowd.
Trouble is bitter, but pleasure can
And does work havoc with many a man.

It's hard to be brave in the face of care,
But it's harder to stand when your skies are fair
With your feet on the ground and your senses cool,
Refusing, though tempted, to play the fool,
Trouble's a tyrant, but pleasure lays
Its pitfalls for men in a thousand ways.

CLEAN UP AS YOU GO

Opposing generals in a war have no sentiment. The job of each alike is to win.

Each knows that light equipment may turn the tide at a critical moment.

He who enters a new day with work half finished, that could have been finished, drags baggage behind him that slows him up.

If you clean up as you go, you know all the time that you are going.

Things left unfinished cause you worry. Worry robs and kills. Things that you dream about, think about and plan, stimulate and inspire you.

Cean up as you go.

That means building and building—bigger and better.

The executive can harbor no unfinished business. His business is that of gaining port, unloading, reloading and—on with the game!

That must mean—clean up as you go.

Events are either a thing of the past or else something very much of the present. You can't warm them over as you would a Christmas turkey!

We must all of us have much of the conqueror in us. We must keep passing on for new worlds. If we stay with old worlds behind, thick in dispute, we become lost and entangled.

Clean up as you go.

Then everything will be faced new each day. Your life background will have mellowed, your experience richened—and you will walk ahead with your chin up!

THE Bread and Butter Wife

By Violet Dare

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

SALLY LEE, an attractive young public stenographer, returns to work after marrying

TOM PORTER, a young real-estate salesman, to help tide him over a jobless period. He resents her success, they quarrel, and she gets a job in a fashionable hotel in Atlantic City where she meets

ELLIOT DANE, a former acquaintance. Disturbed by his ardent attentions, she writes to her husband begging him to let her come back.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XXIV—A RACE WITH PRIDE

EACH morning as Sally hurried down the mezzanine to the corner where her desk was, she glanced around hurriedly to see if there was a letter there from Tom. And each time that she was disappointed, she braced her shoulders resolutely and said to herself "He doesn't want you. You'll have to forget him, that's all."

VIOLET DARE

So it was a merry companion, reckless in her determination to be gay and light-hearted that Dane called for one afternoon.

"I am going to take dictation tonight," Sally told him, her eyes sparkling, "from a man who controls simply oddles and oodles of banks. He's supposed to be an awful crank, so they're giving me an afternoon's rest to prepare me for the struggle."

"Great," said Dane. "Let's go swimming."

"Haven't a bathing suit. Can I rent one?"

"I should say not. Just let me think of those little details. I saw a suit in a shop down the Boardwalk a little way and as soon as I saw it I thought how proud I'd be to go swimming beside that suit. And the only person I know who's as cute as that suit is is you. So, you'll just have to let me have the pleasure of buying it for you."

Sally laughed at his ridiculous reasoning. Was he winding a net of indebtedness around her with which to draw her to him later on? Or was this the way men of means always treated girls. She wished that she knew. She didn't want to be awkward or uncouth or middle-class, and yet it didn't seem just right for him to be buying clothes for her.

She was so delighted though when she saw the soft little checked, knitted suit with a brilliant orange rubber cape to wear on the beach that she forgot all her worries. Skipping along the sands, her hand in Elliot's, she gasped with fright when he called to her. "Come on in; you won't feel it so much if you get wet all over right away." Plunging into the onrushing wave, the burning salt water poured down her throat and nostrils and Sally, gasping, came up feeling too weak to stand.

She felt a protecting arm around her for a moment and then they glided off in the water together, she and Elliot.

After awhile he taught her to float on her back, but it was hard for her to conquer her fear of the water. She clung to his hand, nervously, and frequently drew close to him when a big wave approached that she might borrow of his strength for protection.

By the time that they went out on the beach to rest under one of the big striped umbrellas, there was a feeling almost of kinship between them. Sally didn't speak; she merely played with the sand and made no move to object when Dane moved over closer to her. It was all so gay, so companionable.

It was just the sort of thing for which Sally had always wished, and now that she had it her thoughts were all back in a little flat in the Bronx. The beach with its gaudy umbrellas, its laughing, playing crowds, the sparkling, plunging sea meant little to her now. It seemed as though the whole world were mocking her, for just down the beach a little way a band was playing, "If I can't have the one I want, I don't want the one I can get."

"What's the matter, sweetheart? Aren't you happy?" Dane asked, and Sally turned to him, struggling to smile through the mist of tears that was gathering in her eyes.

"It's not your fault if I'm not. Oh, you've been wonderful to me. How can I ever thank you?"

He looked at her coldly, calculatingly, as she spoke.

"I don't know just how to take you," he finally said slowly. "You seem such a child—and yet I know you are not. One minute you are all ice—and the next you are all fire. Some day the ice will melt, and then you will be mine. I will wait."

He took her hand and pulled her into the breakers.

Abstractedly, hardly hearing what he said, Sally went on sifting the sand through her fingers, watching it glisten in the sunshine.

"I am not a marrying man," he went on slowly, as though carefully weighing his words. "But I would be very good to you. I think you realize that. I never before met anyone I liked so much. Come—Sally—tell me you understand."

Suddenly Sally looked up, her eyes blazing.

"You dare to say that to me? Oh how could you? Just because there is no man here to protect me, you think you can insult me. Oh don't ever speak to me again. I might have known."

She got up and hurried to the bathouse, her cheeks burning with shame.

She was not a born flirt; she would have to find some other way of crowding her husband out of her memory.

Monday—A Face in the Crowd.

MEMORIAL SERVICE CONDUCTED BY CLUB FOR LATE MRS. FESS

A short but impressive memorial service for Mrs. Eva Thomas Fess, wife of Senator S. D. Fess, was held at the home of Mrs. Steele Poague, Tuesday afternoon preceding the regular meeting of the Junior Woman's Club, of which Mrs. Fess was a valued member.

Mrs. Mary Little Dice, president of the club, spoke of the great love and admiration in which Mrs. Fess was held by club members. Mrs. Dice's last conversation with Mrs. Fess, just a week prior to her departure for Washington, seemed to be indicative of her splendid character. It expressed her pleasure in co-operating with her husband in his plans and duties; her hospitality and her love for her home, her abundant happiness and her feeling of unworthiness of the cup, overflowing with "the good things" which she was enjoying.

The next speaker, Mrs. W. A. Humphrey, of Yellow Springs, spoke of Mrs. Fess as a friend and neighbor, who had endeared herself to the whole community, each one of whom, at the news of her death, feeling the loss in a personal way. She spoke of several incidents in the life of Mrs. Fess which stood out as vivid pictures. "One was the occasion of her graduation from Antioch College, wheer as the wife of the presdent, along with the numerous duties which this entailed, she found time for conscientious and faithful study. She was always the gracious and charming hostess when she and her husband received their friends on many delightful occasions. Mrs. Fess, after many brilliant seasons spent in Washington society, never lost her interest in the simple village entertainments which Yellow Springs afforded her on her return home. Perhaps the most vivid picture of Mrs. Fess was the one in her flower garden where the sweet memory of her as the guardian of the flowers will ever blossom and remain fresh among the treasures of our hearts."

Mrs. Fess in relation to the college student body at Antioch was the subject taken by Mrs. S. O. Hale, who was a student during the Fess regime. "Mrs. Fess' friends and admirers were not numbered alone among people of her own age and station, but among all with whom she came in contact, particularly the student body. One of her striking traits was her spirit of true fellowship with them, mingling with them in the class-room, on the campus, and taking her part in the various activities of the college as well as performing the many and varied duties encumbent on the wife of a college president. She dispensed hospitality to the crowds of young people in a manner that bespoke a genuine welcome and an interest in each student. Her influence was of such a refining and uplifting character that the students of a decade or more ago were indeed fortunate to have had contact with such a beautiful life as was hers."

The last speaker, Mrs. B. R. McClellan, presented Mrs. Fess as a fellow club member, who in her fifteen years of membership, was ever faithful in her performance of club duties, presenting in that time many discussions on literature, travel, biography, science, fact and fantasy. "These papers Mrs. Fess gave evinced her entire willingness to search for information that might be attractively compiled and adorned by her trained and cultured mind. When absent from the meetings she never failed to forward her carefully prepared and clearly worded papers that the club members might have the benefit of her intelligent and thorough research. In the death of Mrs. Fess, the Junior Woman's Club has lost a most faithful, sincere and capable member, whose work was an honor to its high ideals and whose example in this respect, club members would do well to emulate."

MRS. SARAH MOLER DIES ON THURSDAY

Mrs. Sarah A. Moler, 80, died at the home of her son, George C. Smith, Alpha, Thursday night at 11:50 o'clock. Death was hastened by a fall she received a few weeks ago, when she fractured her hip. Her condition was serious since the accident due to her advanced age.

Surviving are three sons: George C. Smith, with whom she made her home; B. G. Smith, Dayton; and J. W. Smith, Pasendena, Calif. Her first husband was Benjamin Grimes Smith. Her second husband, Mr. Moler preceded her in death twenty-five years.

Mrs. Moler was a member of the Presbyterian Church, Dayton. She was born in Greene County and spent all of her life in Montgomery and Greene Counties. She was the last surviving member of her immediate family.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Smith home with interment in Mt. Zion Park Cemetery.

ASTHMA OF JAS. RAMSEY IS GONE

"I can truthfully say that I have not had an attack of asthma in three years," says James Ramsey, well known miner of Hemlock, Ohio, and full credit is due to taking Kerker's Asthma and Hay Fever Remedy. I would not take $10,000 for the good it did me. I have not lost a night's sleep since taking the first bottle.

RESERVE SEATS FOR XENIA ROOTERS AT MIAMISBURG GAME

Principal Spencer Shank, of Central High School, has been advised by officials of Miamisburg High that a block of fifty seats has been reserved for Xenia rooters attending the Central-Miamisburg basketball game in Miamisburg Saturday night.

Unless spoken for, seats in this section will be placed on sale after 8 o'clock that night, so Xenians should make their reservations as early as possible.

So much interest has been evidenced in the Xenia-Burger contest almost every available seat has been taken, it is said. Enthusiasm over Miamisburg's team this season has reached a high peak because of the unbroken seven-game winning streak amassed by Coach Ness' tossers.

A special car has been chartered to convey Central followers to Troy Friday night when Central will meet the Trojans in the first game on its week-end trip. The car leaves Xenia over the Dayton and Xenia interurban line at 6 p.m. Roundtrip tickets may be purchased at Tilton's "33" Clothing store for $1.65.

ST. BRIGIDS TO PLAY URBANA HIGH TEAM

St. Brigid High School basketball team will attempt to inscribe its name in the win column for the first time this season in the game with St. Marys High at Kearney Hall, Urbana, Friday night.

Locals have played two games this season losing both, but appear evenly matched with Urbana. Comparison of scores in games with St. Raphael High of Springfield, show Urbana and St. Brigid High are about equal in defensive and offensive strength.

St. Brigid is represented by a light but fast team this season and with advantages of strenuous practice sessions this week hopes to show an improved form against Urbana.

MOTHER OF XENIAN DIES AT FREMONT

Word has been received by friends of the death of Mrs. William Baker, mother of Mrs. C. A. Weaver, W. Market St., which occurred at her home in Fremont, O., Thursday noon. Her death was caused by pleuro-pneumonia.

Mrs. Weaver, who left a month ago for Tampa, Fla., with her son, to spend the winter with Mr. Weaver, arrived at her mother's bedside Sunday. Mrs. Baker's son, Harry Baker, California, arrived Friday. Funeral services and interment will be in Fremont.

Sayre & Hemphill's

An Old English Recipe! Wonderful Eatin!!

We've just received 75 lbs. of English Shelled Walnuts from FRANCE! Sounds odd but that's the fact! They're the kind that sell for $1.25 lb. but these 75 lbs. we're selling at 89c! In order to make them into a splendid delicacy first STEAM them a bit then put a pan full in a hot oven with a bit of butter and a lotta salt! Stir once in awhile and take out when they start to brown. SOME eatin!

New Records!

They come IN so fast and go OUT so fast I just don't get a chance to try as many as I'd like or KEEP the ones I'd like to take home. Still I suppose it's good business to get rid of 'em fast for after all that's why I get them. To sell again.

Columbia Vacuum Bottles Smack dab New Only $1.00!

They're made right here in the United States and are worth a whole lot MORE than a dollar. There's no use in my suggesting how useful they are for school children or for the man who totes his lunch, for all of you know that already. So I'll just drop the subject.

Should Coughs Be Mentioned!

Am I intruding on a private matter when I suggest you should do all you can to get rid of it? Do you really feel that you should KEEP your cough?

How Far Will Women Go!!

There's no doubt about it all! Women are on the MOVE and are GOING—SOME place!

They have not only kicked OVER the traces but have kicked OFF the traces themselves! And so far:

I AM FOR THEM!

Looking back to the stone AGE when a woman was looked upon only as necessary equipment; through the Grecian Classic Period, when they became Valuable as Ornaments; thence on to the much later epoch, whn they caught step with man's LARGER INTERESTS until NOW days they seem to be plowing just as broad and straight a furrow in Life as men do themselves.

In the matter of resistance to Trouble, Disease and Weather, they are not only EQUAL to man, but they've got him skun!

I'd dote on seeing a man dressed with as little as women wear, step out in January weather and go very far without cold on the lungs—or Pneumonia! Yet Women actually BLOOM these days.

How much MORE do they intend to do WITHOUT! (which has nothing to do with drug stores, but gets something off my mind which has been bothering me.)

DOC. SAYRE.

Shorty Says:-

What Doc says is RIGHT! But what OF it?

It's MY opinion that Doc is merely trying to jolly the wimmen folks and gettem in the habit of tradin' here.

However, there's at least ONE thing that a woman will never equal man—but I'll be derned if I'm going to explain it here.

And personally I don't approve of this eggin them on. They've got our votes, pants, razors, hair-cuts, jobs and tobacco, NOW and if they're encouraged, Gosh!

Never Again!! Cut Square in Half!!! Closing them Out!

Not no more! NOT EVER! I'm OFF of this stocking a line o fLadies' Hand Bags! I had a bum hunch that I could sell some of the real HIGH grade sort here in the store but I guess I don't know how to put 'em over so in order to "get out from under," you can just crowd in here and look at them and if the price suits you JUST PAY ME HALF of what they're marked! and they're marked from $4 to $25.00. About 18 of them!

AMUNDSEN PLANS TO PLANT FLAG AT POLE BY DROPPING IT FROM AIR

Rome, Jan. 22 — Roald Amundsen will not attempt a landing at the North Pole if he succeeds in flying a dirigible there next summer but will hover over it and drop a pointed steel pole, so balanced that the Norwegian flag it carries will fly at the top.

This, according to Colonel Nobile, constructor of the Amundsen dirigible, will avoid the difficulty of anchoring on an icy surface.

"Although feasible, anchoring would be wholly useless," Colonel Nobile told the United Press in an exclusive interview. "It would give us no scientific advantage. I think the dirigible will be perfectly capable of remaining still for hours very close to the ground, which would make observations for locating the precise Pole comparatively easy."

Surroundings to determine the depth of the sea, according to Nobile, will be effected by dropping depth charges from the airship and recording the time between the explosion and the echo from the ocean bed. He also explained that a new heating system will be employed, taking advantage of heat chemically produced by the exposure of certain metals to humidity.

Most of the personnel, chosen with great care and after strenuous physical examination, were with Amundsen on the polar vessel "Maud" when he previously attempted to read the Pole. The "Maud" was recently sold in Seattle for debt.

Colonel Nobile said that Amundsen woud probably not fly from Rome, but would join the ship at Oslo.

LIEUTENANT DAVIS GIVEN PROMOTION; NEW OFFCER NAMED

Resignation of Lieutenant J. K. Berger from Company L, 147th., Infantry and changes in the personnel of company officers effective this week, have been announced by Captain Leroy V. John, company commander.

Second Lieutenant Lawrence A. Davis has been promoted to first lieutenant to succeed Lieutenant Berger, whose resignation was accepted by the adjutant general effective this week. Lieutenant Berger has held his commission since the company was organized here.

Lieutenant Davis has also been a member of the company since its organization, receiving his second lieutenant commission recently from the rank of sergeant. He will be succeeded as second lieutenant by Lieutenant Ozni H. Cornwell, O. S. and S. O. Home, who has obtained a transfer of his commission from Company D, machine gun unit, 166th. Infantry, Marion, Ohio.

Lieutenant Cornwell came here recently to accept the position of chief electrician at the O. S. and S. O. Home. He has a long military record, having first entered the service in 1913 in the old Fourth Ohio Infantry. He served during the Mexican border trouble as a sergeant and went overseas with his regiment when it was converted into the 166th. Infantry. He served during the World War with a machine gun company and received his commission as second lieutenant shortly before close of the war.

BRITISH ROYALTY PLANS TO HOLD FOUR COURTS THIS YEAR

London, Jan. 22 — Three "courts" will be held by Their Majesties at Buckingham Palace this summer and, if possible, one at Holyrood Palace in Edinburgh, according to the Lord Chamberlain's formal announcement.

Americans who desire to be presented to the King and Queen will, as usual, make their arrangements through the American Ambassador. Americans who are presented at Court get nothing but an interesting experience, but British ladies who receive that honor enjoy thereafter a very substantial social privilege. In any court in the world the British ambassador at that particular capital is in duty bound to present them to the King or Queen if they indicate their desire for such an honor. This enables the Englishwoman in Rome or Madrid or Tokio to step immediately into the most "exclusive" circles.

According to the Lord Chancellor's announcement, there will be no variation from the usual custom in the preliminaries. That is to say:

No lady may apply for the privilege of being summoned to Court.

She can only be presented if some lady who has already been presented applies on her behalf to the Lord Chamberlain for a summons.

Having received a summons, and full instructions as to dress and etiquette, the happy recipient is expected to appear on the date assigned her.

Ladies may be accompanied to Court by their husbands if the latter have already been presented.

COLDS CAN NEITHER BE DODGED OR CURED SAY HEATH EXPERTS

Columbus, O., Jan. 22—Peculiar characteristics of the common variety of cold in the head or chest have been discovered in a nation wide survey by the United States Public Health Service.

The principal conclusions reached from statistics obtained are that there is no apparent way to dodge the cold and no very effective way of curing it, according to H. Shindle Wingert, head of the student health service at Ohio State University, who has aided in compiling statistics.

Among the other important deductions reached, Wingert said, is the fact that most persons are afflicted with a set number of colds each year. The average is three colds a year, Wingert declared.

Contrary to popular opinion, statistics of the survey have shown that removal of the tonsils accomplishes very little in preventing colds.

Violent outdoor exercise appears to aid rather than hinder contraction of colds, Wingert said. This was due to improper care in the stage of fatigue immediately following the exercise, he explained.

Draughts, perspiration, mouth breathing, tobacco, bathing and the style of footwear apparently have no importance in contracting the disease, according to statistics.

The economic loss caused by colds is estimated at approximately $2,000,000,000 annually, Wingert said, because of loss of time from work.

Reports received every two weeks from 10,000 persons in all sections of the country were used in forming these conclusions.

Reports were also obtained from heads of families of officers in the medical corps of the Army and Navy and of the public health service.

Colds sweep the country in waves and when Columbus people stay home from work with aching heads and scarlet noses, the same is true in Boston, New Orleans, Tuscon and Berkley.

From the reports it seems that locality and climatic conditions have practically nothing to do with cold epidemics.

Although it is believed colds are caused by certain germs, the particular germ has not been discovered and isolated for study, Wingert said.

LAME BACK OR LUMBAGO PAIN

"Heet" Relieves Instantly

Use applicator attached to cork, and brush "Heet" over the pain area. Immediately, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of your lame, aching back. Besides, "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure.

"Heet" instantly relieves rheumatic or neuritis pain in any joint, muscle or nerve, whether in the arm, shoulder, neck, legs or body. "Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.—Adv.

Famous CHEAP STORE

Maybe This Contains A Hint For You

Mrs. Lodeema LaRue

Lima, Ohio.—"When my oldest daughter was a baby, I was in miserable health. I do not think I could have recovered had it not been for Dr. Pierce's Medicines. Before I began taking the 'Favorite Prescription' and the 'Pleasant Pellets' I was so weak I could not do anything; in fact, I never regained my strength after motherhood. But the 'Favorite Prescription' restored my health. I became stout and well in a remarkably short time.

"My husband was a physical wreck at one time and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery made him a strong and well man. I am very thankful to Dr. Pierce for these remedies."—Mrs. Lodeema J. LaRue, 123 Flanders Ave.

Dr. Pierce's Famous Family remedies are sold at all drug stores, in tablets or liquid. Send Dr. Pierce, Pres. Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for a trial pkg. of any of his medicines and write for free advice.

DREAMS COME TRUE

MASONS INSTALL OFFICERS AT MEET

Installation of officers for 1926 featured the banquet meeting of the Yellow Springs Masonic lodge this week, with nearly 150 Masons, their wives and friends attending the affair.

Paul C. Martin, Springfield, delivered the principal address of the evening on the "Life of Lincoln" following installation work.

All new officers took office with the exception of John P. Confer, newly elected Tyler, who failed to attend because of illness. Judge Harry Cram, Springfield, was the installation officer.

VOLUNTEERS FIGHT FIRE IN RESIDENCE

Citizens of Spring Valley enrolled as voluntary firemen, extinguished a small blaze at the residence of George Benson, Walnut St., Spring Valley, at 8:30 Thursday night.

Mantle piece in the living room caught afire from an over-heated stove but was torn out of its fastening before the blaze could spread. Damage was small, fully insured.

SISTER OF XENIAN CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. R.S.Gregory, Chicago, Ill., sister of Mrs. John O'Brien, Hill St., who spent several weeks visiting her last summer, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Thompson, Indianapolis, Ind., Thursday.

Funeral services and burial will take place at Muncie, Ind., Saturday morning.

Church Notices

CHURCH OF THE NAZERENE
Corner Orange and Bellbrook Sts.
F. H. Landgrabe, Pastor.

Sabbath School, 9:15 a.m.; morning worship 10:30; theme: "The Borrowed Axe; or Lost Power." At this service the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed; evening worship, 7:00; theme: "The Sale of the Birthright;" prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 5:30.

Revival meeting with the Rev. W. R. Cain, Witchita, Kan., announced to begin at this church next Sunday, has been postponed one week. Services will begin January 31 and continue until February 14. The Rev. Mr. Cain is at present in a meeting with the former pastor of the local church the Rev. W. R. Gilley, at Warren, Pa. Owing to the interest in the meeting there, services will continue a week longer than at first planned, making it necessary for the local church here to postpone their meeting a week.

The church where everyone is welcome.

FIRST REFORMED CHURCH

N. Detroit at Church St.
David A. Sellers, Pastor.

9:15 a.m., Bible School. Let us keep up last Sunday's good record. 10:30 a.m., morning worship. The Ministerial Relief Campaign will be presented by the Rev. Walter B. Leis, of Fairfield, O. 4:00 p.m., Vesper service. The Wittenberg Men's Quartet will sing several numbers; Prof. F. L. Bach will play the organ and the address will be given by the Rev. V. F. Brown, D. D., pastor of Trinity M. E. Church. Everybody welcome.

TRINITY METHODIST

V. F. Brown, Pastor.

Where do you go next? What plans have you for Sunday? Listen—you are invited to attend the following services at Trinity; will you accept? Sunday School, with a good orchestra and classes suited to all, 9:15 a.m. Public worship, 10:30 a.m., with sermon by the pastor. Theme: "The Christian Home, or Salvation for the Entire Family." Good music. Epworth League, 6:15 p.m. At 7 p.m., we join with First Church for the evening worship, and want you there. Midweek service, 7:30 Wednesday evening. Come and bring a friend.

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH
W. Main St.
W. H. Naffziger, Pastor.

Sunday School, 9:15 a.m.; morning preaching, 10:30.

CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Church School at 9:15 a.m. Morning service and sermon at 10:30. Subject: "Invest in Safe Securities." The splendid work of social service will be remembered next Sunday.

THE U. B. CHURCH
West Third St.
A. J. Furstenberger, Pastor.

Harold Douglas will preach at this time. Mr. Douglas is pastor of the Friends Church at Dayton. Christian Endeavor, 6 p.m., Grover Crawford, leader; evening services at 7 o'clock. Otis Pramer will have charge of this service.

Missionary society will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. J. Lane on High St. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening, 7 o'clock. You are cordially invited to all these services.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Frank W. Stanton, Pastor.

Sunday School will convene at 9:15 a.m. There is a rising tide in the school. At 10:30, Dr. Swank, our new district superintendent, will occupy the pulpit. We want the entire membership to hear him, as he is one of our great preachers. At 6:00 p.m., the Mothers of the W. F. M. S. will entertain the daughters at a tea, celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of young people's work. At 7:00 o'clock a sacred pageant entitled, "The Challenge of The Cross," will be given in the auditorium. Trinity church will attend, and the public is cordially invited.

The Epworth League will not be held at the usual time, on account of the Mother and Daughter's Tea.

Wednesday night a special prayer service in the interest of the evangelistic services.

The Only Pure Milk

Is Milk That Has Been

PASTEURIZED

Raw milk, in spite of the most careful handling, is not free from germs. This has been fully demonstrated by the most careful scientific tests. Proper pasteurization of milk destroys any pathogenic organisms which might be present in raw milk and these bacteria cause tuberculosis, typhoid, scarlet fever and diphtheria. On the other hard pasteurization does not destroy the natural healthful organisms in the milk nor does it mar its fresh, sweet flavor.

Since milk is absolutely essential to the physical development of children and the health of adults it is imperative that safe milk be available at all times.

OUR MILK IS 100 PERCENT PURE AND IS ABSOLUTELY SAFE.

Customers-Read This Notice

When you desire cream, butter, butter milk, cottage cheese or any of our products simply leave a note in the milk bottle and the drivers will fill your order from the truck. All our products are carried on our trucks every day.

ECZEMA

Dries right up!

If you just realized how easy it is to stop fiery, itching, burning eczema by simply building up the red-blood-cells in your blood with S. S. S., you wouldn't waste another minute trying to do it any other way.

That's the only way to relieve irritated, broken out skin of any sort. You lack rich, red blood. Impurities are in your system. The blood is so weak it can't fight back and overcome the enemy, so the impurities break out through the skin.

"Not Possible To Classify" By Mack Sauer

CAMERAPHONE—looks like a camera, plays any standard phonograph record, $15. R. WURLITZER Co., 1049 Central Ave.

You can play "The Prisoner's Song" on it and get a picture of yourself among those mentioned in that interesting line "We move to the jail tomorrow." Speaking of "The Prisoner's Song," we favor giving it a thirty days jail sentence.

PLAIN TRUTH

"You may say what you wish,
But to me," said Arch,
"The Prisoner's Song'
Was the wedding march."

Put on "Follow the Swallows," drink a glass of home brew while the thing plays, and it will keep a record of the swallows for you. It makes records of things that take place, but you can't play them.

CRANK IT.

"Needles and pins,
Needles and pins,
When a man cranks it,
The music begins.

You can play "The Parade of The Wooden Soldiers" on it and take a picture of them parading. You can play the "William Tell" overture and get a snap shot of William Tell shooting the apple off the boy's head.

It looks like a camera, but, of course, there will have to be some developing done before pictures made with it can be shown. It carries a reproducer, but music is the only thing it will reproduce.

REMEMBER IT?

Speaking of phonographs,
Where, oh, where,,
Is that old, old song—
"The preacher and the Bear?"

After all, many a photograph has proven a talking machine to a man in a divorce case. And we're wondering what is going to happen to poor old Uncle Bim of Andy Gump fame. Are you following that interesting comic daily?

"The Prisoner's Song" is written in a familiar key—one taken off the jailer's ring. It makes one look through too many bars.

The day you were wed
You stepped along
To the plaintive tunes
Of a prisoner's song.

MADGE HALLISY,
Administrator of the estate of William C. Hallisy, Deceased.
Charles L. Darlington, Attorney for Administratrix.

Jan. 22, 29, Feb. 5, 12.

State of Ohio, Department of Commerce Division of Insurance, Columbus, March 1 1925.—As Superintendent of Insurance of the State of Ohio, I hereby certify that the American Equitable Assurance Company of New York, whose principal office is located at New York, in the State of New York, has complied in all respects with the laws of this State applicable to it and is authorized during the current year to transact in this State its appropriate business of insurance as specified in its license. Its financial condition on the thirty-first day of December of the year next preceding the date hereof, is shown by its annual statement to have been as follows: aggregate amount of available assets, $2,818,113.98; aggregate amount of liabilities (except capital), including re-insurance reserve, $1,508,967.42; net assets, $1,309,-146.56; amount of actual paid-up capital, $500,000.00; surplus, $809,146.56; amount of income for the year in cash, $1,885,110.88; amount of expenditures for the year in cash, $1,084,956.49.

LICENSES INDICATE CANINE INCREASE

Checkup by County Auditor R. O. Wead disclosed 2,804 dog licenses had been sold in Greene County this year by January 20, the final day they could be purchased without penalty. This represents an increase of nearly 600 licenses over 1925.

A few complaints were registered by dog tag purchasers when they were required to pay the $1 penalty imposed upon owners buying tags after the last day.

Auditor Wead has no recourse he said but to charge the penalty under a provision of the law passed by the state legislature.

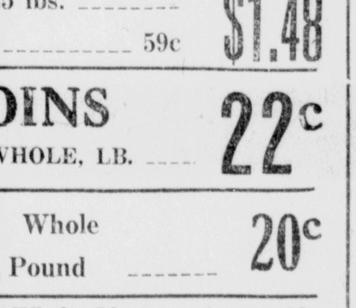

Male dog licenses now cost $2 and female licenses $4.

HE PRIZES EARS

Cleveland, O., Jan. 21—Joseph Vaniek, of Cleveland, values his ears at $15,000 according to a suit filed by him today against the Cleveland, Ashtabula and Conneaut Bus Company.

Vaniek alleged that while riding on one of the company's busses from Erie to Ashtabula, the bus became stalled twice and on account of the lack of heat his ears were frozen.

He charged negligence.

Keep Slim

COUNTY AGENT WILL SPEAK BEFORE OHIO FARM FEDERATION

J. R. Kimber, Greene County Agriculture Agent, formerly service manager of the Allen County Farm Bureau, will be one of the speakers at the annual meeting, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Columbus, during Farmers' Week. Mr. Kimber will talk Monday afternoon on the practice of selling hogs direct to packers on the basis of yield.

Federation's annual meeting will be held February 1 and 2, the first two days of Farmers' Week. It is the seventh annual convention of the organization and delegates are expected to attend from every Ohio county.

Features of the meeting will be talks by S. H. Thompsin, Illinois, and L. J. Taber, Ohio, leaders, respectively of the National Farm Bureau and Grange. Discussion of farm legislation now pending in Washington will also occupy considerable attention. Special program is being arranged for farm women.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE BETTER THAN USUAL

Despite low attendance at Central High School during the past month, attendance of the Xenia City Scoool System as a whole, has been better than usual, according to H. C. Pendry, city superintendent. Attendance figures are based on the month ending January 15.

Figures show that city school attendance, including high schools has been .4 of 1 per cent above normal, Mr. Pendry said.

VARIED PROGRAM IS OFFERED FRIDAY BY MUSICAL M'CORDS

Varied program of dramatic and musical effort will feature the appearance of The McCords as the third number on the Xenia High School Lyceum Course in the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium at Central High School Friday night.

Mr. McCord is said to rank with the foremost impersonators now in the entertainment field and is assisted by Mrs. McCord, who will render pianologues, readings and short stories. She is also a gifted vocalist.

Program includes sketches, playlets, vocal efforts, talk songs, pianologues and short stories.

Three numbers remain on the 1925-26 course. Sam Grathwell, lecturer and Lyceum's "peptimist," will appear February 11. Leake's Orchestral Entertainers will be the feature of the fifth number February 19, and the final number March 19 will mark the appearance of Lowell Patton and his artists.

FINAL COLLECTION DAY WAS LARGEST

No estimate could be placed on the total receipts from the December tax collection Friday by County Treasurer F. A. Jackson, but the collection probably is in excess of the December semi-annual collection the year previous, he believes.

Wednesday, the final day, the treasurer's office did probably the biggest business in the period, the collection approximating $86,000.

Checks for thousands of dollars have been received for tax payments which will delay the final announcement of complete figures.

Face covered with ugly red pimples
Resinol healed the trouble

Valley Centre, Va., Feb. 14:—"Some time ago my face became covered with little pimples which were red and ugly looking. I tried various remedies, but nothing did me any good until I used Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. I applied this treatment about five times every day and in a remarkably short time I was rid of the trouble. There is nothing like the Resinol treatment!" (Signed) Mrs. M. L. Crickenberger.

MICHIGAN TO HAVE VISIT FROM WINTER

Detroit, Jan. 21.—An enveloping cold wave that will catapult Michigan thermometers to zero ebore midnight tonight was predicted by the weather bureau here today. It was 27 degrees above zero here at 8 a. m.

A high pressure area, which this morning registered 28 degrees below zero in Manitoba and Saskatchewan is sweping down upon this section, the weather man reported.

JILTED LOVER MAY PROVE UNDOING OF "SHOOTING SHIEK"

Durkin Shaken When City Sweetheart Turns State's Evidence

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Love tangles in the life of Martin Durkin, today tightened the noose which the state is preparing for him.

Betty Andrews Werner, the city sweetheart Durkin forsook to marry a village beauty, has turned against him and will testify for the prosecution. The weight of her testimony is believed by the state to be sufficient to send Chicago's "Shooting Sheik" to the gallows.

News that Betty had forsaken him shook some of the bravado out of Durkin. It cast a shadow over his jail cell which even his bravest smiles could not dispel.

Ever since his capture, Marty had boasted that Betty would be loyal to him—that she "would die rather than squeal." Even though he had left her alone in the city with a baby she claims was his while he ran off and married Irma Sullivan, the pretty blacksmith's daughter, of Cornell, Ill., he was confident she would forgive and remain true.

But Betty saw the beautiful bride that Marty had chosen and decided against loyalty for the man she had protected in many of his serious scrapes.

"I want to stay in the custody of the state's attorney" were the word that revealed Betty's decision. She spoke them when Durkin's mother tried to have her released so she could not be forced to give evidence against him. The words indicated her intention to give state's testimony.

"So they have made you bitter against me, have they?" Durkin pleaded.

"They? They? You did it yourself?" Betty replied and turned away.

Durkin was to be arraigned today in criminal court and will be asked to enter his plea—"guilty" or "not guilty." It is expected to be the latter. If so, the date for trial will probably be set at once and the state will attempt to convict him of murdering Edward Shananan, the first of his murder victims.

HEADLESS TORSO IS IDENTIFIED; CLUE MAY LEAD TO ARREST

Victim Disappeared From Philadelphia Relatives Say

Media, Pa., Jan. 22.— The headless torso of a young woman found in the woods near here late yesterday afternoon was identified today as that of Miss Anna May Dietrich, 34, of Norwood, by state police.

The identification was made by A. F. Dahlsto, a state policeman, who obtained a description of the girl from the victim's sister, Mrs. A. L. Schul, who also lives in Norwood, a community near Philadelphia.

Immediately following identification police announced they had clues to the murder which may lead to an arrest today.

A thorough search of the woods failed to reveal the head of the slain woman. Her legs were found fifteen feet from the torso, wrapped in a piece of heavy brown paper and heavily bound with straps.

Also near the mutilated corpse were three clean, white handkerchiefs. One had the imprints of teeth marks and is believed to have been used as a gag.

Bruises on the knuckles of her right hand indicated the victim had struggled with the fiend who killed her.

The woman's legs had been severed cleanly, examination disclosed. A sharp instrument in the hands of one with a knowledge of surgery was used, police believe.

After a farmer near here had told of seeing an automobile in the vicinity of the spot where the torso was found, police admitted they were working on the theory that the woman had been kidnapped and killed and brought here by the slayer.

A tiny wristwatch bearing the inscription "From H. B. Z. to T. T." may supply police with new information. Relatives of the slain woman were reluctant to discuss the affair but will be questioned further today by authorities.

The slain woman disappeared Tuesday in Philadelphia after a shopping tour with her sister, Mrs. Alexander Schul.

KIRBY MAY TESTIFY IN TRIAL FOR FRAUD

Cleveland, Jan. 22 — Josiah Kirby, former head of the Cleveland Discount Company, on trial on charges of defrauding scores of investors through use of the mails, may testify in his own behalf late today, it was indicated when court reconvened today.

A number of former stockholders and salesmen also were to be called by the defendant. Just before the government rested its case yesterday, Ray L. Pollard, former treasurer of the company was recalled and testified Kirby altered the company's financial statements.

"Where an actual deficit existed, the financial statements showed a surplus of more than $1,000,00," Pollard testified.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR FIVE VICTIMS

Alliance, O., Jan. 22—Firemen today still were searching for bodies in the smouldering embers of the Karevich farm home near here where yesterday Mrs. Mary Karevich and three little daughters, Mary, Anna and Dorothy, were burned to death.

The bodies of Mary and Anna have been recovered and firemen expect to reach the remains of Mrs. Karevich and Dorothy this afternoon.

Mrs. Karevich died in a heroic effort to save the tots from death. In another part of the house, her husband led and carried four sons to safety.

SO THIS IS AMERICA! FLORIDA SUFFERS FROM HEAT AS MERCURY DROPS IN NORTH

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 22—Tourists and Floridans sweltered through a sticky, hot tropical night and many bathing parties found some relief from the heat wave which has gripped this section for several days.

For the last three days the government thermometer has climbed to 76, while a hot sun beat down through a sultry atmosphere that was almost oppressive.

After a week of spring-like days, the city was swept by snow storms today while cold winds sent the mercury down.

Chicago, Jan. 22—Sub-zero temperatures chilled the heart of the middlewest today. Thermometers in Chicago's loop registered five below zero this morning.

SPANISH AVIATOR STARTS EFFORT TO FLY ACROSS OCEAN TO BRAZIL

Flyer Hopes To Steal Italian Laurels And Be First To Fly From Europe To Argentine—Signals Heard At Wireless Stations

Franco wirelessed the Teneriffe station shortly before noon that the flight was satisfactory and the station sent him a report on meteorological conditions.

"Keep signaling, I hear you perfectly," Franco wirelessed back.

(Later the Les Palmas station was in direct communication with him.)

Huelva, Spain, Jan. 22.—Hailed as a sort of Columbus of the air, Commander Ramon Franco, Spanish war flier, started today a flight to Beunos Aires from within the zone of the Huelva-Palos Canal whence Christopher Columbus in 1492 set out on his voyage which brought discovery of a new world.

Franco and his associat, Lieut. Alda, made their start shortly before 8 a. m. today while the populace of the little town in a frenzy of enthusiasm cheered them until they were lost to view across the waters.

The route across the ocean to the Argentine capital is by way of the Canaries, Cape Verde Islands, Fernando De Noronha in mid-Atlantic and Brazil.

Franco hopes to be the first Spanish aviator to complete the flight from Europe to Argentina. He has before him the record of two Portuguese colleagues in 1922 in a flight from Lisbon to Brazil and he has the opportunity to grasp from Italy the laurels that country hoped to win when Casa Grande set out for Buenos Ailes only to be halted before he was faily under way.

American Author Receives French Legion of Honor

Mrs. Gertrude Atherton, American novelist, was recently given the medal of the rank of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador, presented it at the first ceremony in the new embassy at Paris.

TREASURER'S WIDOW APPOINTED TO OFFICE

Indianapolis, Jan. 22.—Through a death-bed promise made to her husband ,Mrs. Ben H. Urbahas today prepared to step into the office of State Treasurer—the first woman in the history of Indiana to hold a major state office.

Urbahas, who was serving the first term as treasurer of state went to the hospital for an operation with a promise from Gov. Ed Jackson that in event o fhis death, his wife would be named to fill his unexpired term.

Urbahas died last night and Gov. Jackson announced he was prepared to name the widow to the office.

JUDGE FALSIFIED RECORDS IS CHARGE

Washington, Jan. 22.—A charge that Federal Judge Harry B. Anderson of Memphis, had falsified records in 47 cases before his western Tennessee court was made by E. J. Heidel, former deputy clerk of the court, in testimony before the senate committee investigating opposition to Anderson's nomination.

One record was made to show that his defendant and his attorney were in court although they were not present, Heidel said.

BOURSE ON STRIKE

Paris, Jan. 22—The Paris Bourse went on general strike today and noted no quotations except for foreign exchange. The strike was in protest against the Left Cartel's plan for a tax on bourse transactions.

JEWEL ROBBERS STEAL $25,000

West Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 22—Aristocratic Palm Beach again has been "touched" by jewel robbers according to reports today. Miss Muriel McCormick is reported to be the latest victim of the clever gem thieves who have been operating here since the winter season opened.

Although police denied knowledge of the theft, it was reported that Miss McCormick lost about $26,000 worth of jewelry, while a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. McKinlock.

DARROW TO DEBATE WITH TOLEDO PASTOR

Toledo, Jan. 22.—Clarence Darrow, noted Chicago criminal lawyer and agnostic, will debate the "immortality of the soul," with the Rev. Elwood Rowsey here the night of January 30. It was announced previously, through a misinterpretation of dates, that the debate would be held the night of January 20.

The contemplated debate is the result of a controversy carried on between the two since Darrow heard Dr. Rowsey speak in Detroit last summer, following the Scopes evolution trial in Tennessee.

CHILD UNCONSCIOUS SINCE ACCIDENT

Cleveland, O., Jan .22.—Fern Florida, aged 6, today entered her ninth day of unconsciousness. Fern was struck by an automobile on Jan. 12.

Attendants are feeding her milk, broth and fruit juice through a tube.

Fern was hurrying from school when she ran behind a parked car into the path of another machine. The woman driver could not stop.

Fern was dragged several feet. She suffered a fractured skull, concussion of the brain, a fractured thigh and other injuries.

HIGHWAY COMMITTEE MEETS IN COLUMBUS

Columbus, Jan. 22.—The legislative highway committee in session here today was planning its itinerary for an examination trip to be made of highways of Illinois, Wisconsin and Maryland.

Highway Director Schlesinger was before the committee late Thursday explaining in detail the organization of his department, its policies with relation to maintenance and construction.

Pair Named as Co-Respondents in Divorce Suits to Wed Soon

Word comes from Paris that the Marchioness of Queensbury (above) and Sir James Dunn, Canadian financier, are to be married in the French capital. Each has been divorced and has been named as co-respondent with the other.

OHIO PASTORS TAKE ACTION CONDEMNING DRAFT LAWS AND WAR

Church Should Not Approve or Sanction War Is Belief

Columbus, Jan. 22.—Anti-war resolutions, holding that the chuch should neither "approve nor sanction" war, were adopted by the Ohio Pastors Association at the closing session of a three day convention here. The resolutions condemning draft laws, defense test day and scholastic military training, were a part of the report of the committee on international relations.

The section opposing war read in part:

"We hold that the individual conscience never should be suborned by the state for engagement in war, and that the church as a universal organization never should give it's sanction to the state in the prosecution of any war."

In condemning scholastic military training, the report said:

"Such training is contrary to the best interests of education, weakens the will to peace and in no wise is effective as a measure of national safety."

The convention also adopted a resolution condemning "any immigration policy that would create a labor reserve" but favored the repeal of all laws discriminating against the immigration of Asiatics.

At the closing business session Dr. William H. Foulkes, pastor of the Old Stone Church, Cleveland, was elected chairman of the convention for 1927.

GIRL IS ATTACKED; CLUBBER NOT BLAMED

Toledo, Jan. 22—The theory that the Toledo clubber attacked Miss Dorothy Burton, 20, shortly after she alighted from a street car last night was discredited by both the girl and the police today. The man who attacked the girl, beating her with his fists, alighted from the same street car, followed her for a short distance and then, with provocation, struck her.

Miss Burton screamed. Her parents rushed from their home, just as the girl's assailant faded into the night.

Miss Burton gave police a description of the man.

OPPOSED TO MILITARY

Columbus, O., Jan. 22—Men students at Ohio State University have voted ten to seven against compulsory military training. The vote was:

Compulsory training, 701; optional training, $1,099.

All colleges of the University are opposed to compulsory training except the engineering department, the vote revealed.

All the students believe some form of [illegible] had a place in the University curriculum, but are against compulsory training.

CARDINAL MERCIER IS BELIEVED DYING AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Prince Visits Bedside Of Prelate—Death Matter of Days

Brussels, Jan. 22—Cardinal Mercier, Belgium's hero churchman, is dying. The end may be delayed a few days, but his life is gradually ebbing away and physicians give no hope that he can recover.

He is facing death with a courage, calmness and firmness such as marked his life and especially his war time course when he defied the German war lords and balked them when they sought to silence him.

Today Crown Prince Leopold went to the revered churchman's bedside bearing flowers to add to the gifts masses sent him constantly.

The Prince knelt beside the bed and tears came into his eyes as he gazed upon the dying cardinal.

Feebly, the Cardinal extended to the heir to the throne, his blessing and exchanged a fe wwords of welcome, smiling upon Leopold as he spoke.

The Cardinal at present cannot be fed. The stomach ailment which an operation failed to aid has left him in a state where even the slightest food is not retained.

His inability to assimilate any nourishment now is hastening the end, though his remarkable constitution is maintaining him extraordinarily.

RETAINED AT OHIO U

Athens, O., Jan. 22—Dr. E. B. Bryan, president of Ohio University, will remain as head of the school for five years at an annual salary of $9,000. At the request of the board of trustees, Dr. Bryan reconsidered his resignation, submitted some months ago and agreed to retain his post.

SATURDAY TO BRING RELIEF FROM COLD WAVE IS PREDICTER

Storm Wave Strikes Entire Central-West Territory

Columbus, Jan. 22.— With temperatures falling slowly, virtually the entire state was blanketed with snow today and in some sections the flakes were piled into huge drifts, making roads almost impassable. Near-zero temperatures will prevail throughout the state tonight with no prospect of relief until tomorrow morning, the weather bureau announced.

Propelled before a brisk northeast wind snow began falling yesterday afternoon and did not abate until last midnight, when temperatures began falling.

Central and southern Ohio received from four to six inches while between six and ten inches fell in the great lakes section.

Only a few fatalities attributable to the storm, had been recorded at an early hour today.

Adjacent states felt the blast this morning.

Iowa reported temperatures in most sections between zero and five below. Northern Indiana had zero weather and the central and southern portions of the state found the mercury rapidly falling.

Wisconsin reported temperatures between three and seven degrees below zero with the mercury still dropping.

Minnesota and Nebraska had snow and sub-zero temperatures.

Freezing temperatures or lower were general over the area east and west except for a few points along the gulf coast, and the coast line of the Pacific.

STAY GRANTED IN SEGREGATION CASE

Columbus, Jan. 22—The state supreme court today was expected to grant a stay of execution in the case of Earl Reese, colored, Dayton, against the board of education and Paul C. Stetson, Dayton superintendent of schools.

Reese brought action against the board of education following segregation of colored and white children in different schools.

Reese said the city violated state laws in maintaining a separate school for colored children, taught by colored teachers. He alleged the state law prohibited segregation of children because of color.

The Montgomery County court of appeals allowed a writ of mandamus against the school board to provide for the instruction of both colored and white children in the same building under the same teachers.

The board carried the case to the supreme court, where action is now pending.

LEGINSKA FAILS TO RETURN TO NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 22.—Ethel Leginska temperamental pianist, who was reported en route to New York after disappearing from Evansville, Ind., where she failed to fill an engagement, had not arrived at her Park Avenue home here today, a search disclosed. Friends say they had no word from her and it was said she had not returned during the night.

In some circles it was believed the eccentric pianist would remain in seclusion, in some small town, seeking to nurse the frayed nerves which she blamed for being unable to keep her engagement in Evansville.

WORLD COURT OPPONENTS GAIN ONE VOTE AS OKLAHOMAN CHANGES

Washington, Jan. 22—The irreconcilables gained their first convert in the vicious battle they are waging against the world court when an administration senator, W. S. Pine, Oklahoma, Republican, today entered their camp.

"My party is for the world court, but my state is against it and I will vote with my state," Pine said in announcing his position. Previously he had been considered for the court.

With this change, a complete poll of the senate made by the United Press showed the following line up at this point in the battle royal:

Against the Court — Republicans 15; Democrats 3; Farmer-Labor 1; total 19.

This gives the Court 13 more votes than the necessary two-thirds majority for its adoption.

The conversion of Pine gave the filibusterers new life as the administrations pressed harder upon them for a vote. Threats were made that tonight before adjournment, if present tactics continue, a cloture motion will be presented by sixteen administration senatorsasking limitation of the debate.

TOLEDO POLICE SEEK NEW CLUES IN MURDER OF LATEST CLUB VICTIM

Toledo, Jan. 22 — Completely baffled at almost every turn, police today sought new clews in the murder of Miss Mamie Handley, whose hacked and bruised body was found between two houses here Monday.

The only angle now open to investigation, detectives said, is a telephone call from a woman who asked for Detective Culver and Fruehey, declaring she had something to tell in connection with Miss Handley's death. When informed the officers were away, said she would call at the police station.

Officers waited several hours but she failed to appear.

Police are convinced, however, that Orwiller, a former sweetheart of Miss Handley had no connection with the woman's death.

The only remaining theory they say, is that Miss Handley was a victim of the Toledo clubber, whose activities came to a sudden halt here several weeks ago. Previously the police abandoned this theory.

TWO MILLION BOY SCOUTS PLAN TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY WEEK SOON

Sixteen years of Scouting will be celebrated by more than 2,000,000 members of the Boy Scout Council of America during the Sixteenth Anniversary Week from February 6 to 13, inclusive, according to Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury, Xenia.

During the sixteen years now closing it is estimated fully 2,000,000 boys registered as Scouts. More than 12,000 of these have become Eagle Scouts.

During anniversary week, each day has been set aside for some special observance as follows: Feb. 7, Scouting and the Church; Feb. 8, Anniversary Day; Annual Committment to Oath and Law; Feb. 9, Scouting and School Day; Feb. 10, Scouting and Home Day; Feb. 11, Scouting and Service Day; Feb. 12, Lincoln's Birthday, Scouting and Patriotism Day; Feb. 13, Scouting and Good Health Day.

Statistics show there are more than 20,000 men now devoting their time and thought as scoutmasters of Boy Scout Troops, and as many more giving similar service as assistant scoutmasters, in the nation.

The 22,000 Boy Scout troops in the United States are distributed in the proportion of about 55 per cent, or 12,117 in churches, 838 being Roman Catholic Churches, 198 in Jewish, and most of the remainder in Protestant Churches. Remainder are organized in connection with civic organizations, community centers, industrial organizations, libraries and various societies and clubs.

More than 64,000 acres of land, valued at two and one quarter million dollars, and having a capacity of 50,922 Scouts at one time, are now devoted to organized Boy Scout camps, under immediate supervision of 556 local councils.

These statistics, according to Scoutmaster Kingsbury, give some idea of the growth of the Scout movement in the United States since 1910.

The movement has spread over the world and is established in fifty-three countries. Its aims and ideals are everywhere identical, and the program of activities is practically the same, subject to local conditions, he says.

Observance of anniversary week in Xenia will be especially marked in churches, the scoutmaster says. Many local Scouts are also planning to attend the Court of Honor sessions in Dayton when Scouts will receive recognition and merit badges.

COLDS of head or chest are more easily treated externally with— VICKS VAPORUB Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

Officials at a beauty convention picked what they thought was the ugliest woman in New York and made her beautiful. "Now you can get a beau," they told her. "I already have one," she replied.

An English sparrow, flying south to avoid the cold, went so far that he landed, almost frozen, in Cape Town, South Africa, 6,000 miles away. Around his leg was a ring showing his starting point.

Morris Sherman, of Chicago, about to take a bath in a bath house, discovered it was not Saturday and leaped out a window, breaking both ankles.

A Grand Rapids woman, injured in an auto accident, had a radio installed beside her bed so that she might hear the funeral services of her son, injured in the same accident.

"I didn't want to do it. Get me out of it quick," was the wail of a Wilmington, Del., bride to the minister who had just married her to a New Jersey youth.

It was all right for a Boston husband to punch, slap and choke his wife, she told a judge. But when he resented her bobbed hair and cut off the rest of it she announced she was through.

RESCUE WORKERS TO STAGE REVIVAL

CONQUER CONSTIPATION EASILY

Mr. McEnery tried part-bran substitutes — but only ALL-BRAN brought complete relief. Here's what he says:

"For fifteen years I was constantly bothered with constipation. . . . About two years ago I tried out mixed bran and corn flakes but did not get much relief. Some eighteen months ago, I began using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. From the first week to this good day, I have never had to take a dose of any laxative medicine of any description."

JAMES D. McENERY,
R. F. D. No. 4, Alto, Texas.

Constipation is the enemy of health. The cause of more than forty diseases. Don't let this insidious trouble send its poisons through your body. Pimples, spots before the eyes, indigestion and headaches—are warning signs.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation or your money is refunded. Delicious with milk, fruit or with other cereals. Fine in cooking.

Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere.

WOMEN ALWAYS IN BUSINESS, CLUB TOLD

Women have been "in business" seventy-five years, according to Miss Alice Englehardt, secretary-treasurer, Potter Shoe Co., Cincinnati and national finance chairman, Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, who addressed the Xenia B. P. W. Club, at the Knights of Pythias Hall, Thursday evening.

In fact, women have always been "in business," according to Miss Englehardt, who cited the times when women spun and made the clothes of her family, made the soap, candles and helped build her home, besides rearing a family and cooking the meals.

First doctors were women, since they first brewed the herbs into tea for illness, and women have always been the world's real nurses, she said.

"The World War brought about the emancipation of women," Miss Englehardt told the Xenia business women. "Before the war, the business girl was socially ostracized," she declared. "Woman performed Herculean tasks in the war, made an impression on the world and won her rightful place.

"No matter how big a success you are in business, don't forget you are a woman," she told her audience. "Any place in business or professional life which has been rightfully won by a woman belongs to her. We don't want laws based on sex lines, they should be based on lines of industry.

"Business women are handicapped by 'women laws' which have been inflicted on them by women of leisure," she said. Miss Englehardt criticized the minimum wage and declared that women have undivided loyalty and efficiency in their work which entitles them to fairer wages.

"We don't want to take men's jobs but we want an even break," she said. "When women do as much work and have the ability as men, they should receive the same pay. Women always have dependents and responsibility.

"Trouble with women is that they too often lack self-faith, start at the bottom and are content to stay there because they are women. Qualities of the business woman are intelligence, imagination—the ability to 'dream'—to finih the job placed before them and to regard and care for their health. Women too often 'dream' the little dreams and let men visualize the big things and accomplish them.

"We are not the weaker sex. We stay on the job when the men don't—often stay too long.

"Business women make the best wives," she said, "because they are able to take care of money and understand men."

Miss Englehardt's address was the main feature of the club meeting, following the regular dinner and business session. Covers were laid for eighty club members at tables appointed in rainbow colors. Club songs were sung during dinner.

RECENT BRIDE HONOR GUEST AT AFTERNOON PARTY

Mrs. Eva Harner and Mrs. Hazel Harner entertained sixty guests at the home of the latter on the Beavercreek Road, Thursday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Hartzell Humston, (Miss Allie Swadener).

The Harner home was daintily decorated in pink and white. Gifts of the guests for Mrs. Humston were placed in a pink and white decked wagon which was drawn into the guest circle by little Ruth Iona Swadener, niece of the bride and Bobby Harner, both dressed in pink and white. Mrs. Humston received many handsome gifts.

Out-of-town guests at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Alexander and family; Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, Dayton and Mrs. Russel Hite and daughter, Carolyn, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Humston are residing with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Swadener, Springfield pike.

SPRING HILL P.-T. A. TO GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

Ways and Means Committee of the Spring Hill P. T. A., unit has perfected plans for staging a mock trial entitled "The Kidnaping and Breach of Promise" and playlet, "Servant for an Hour" at Jean B. Elwell Auditorium at Central High School, February 5, it is announced.

Proceeds of the entertainment will be used to aid in financing completion of the new auditorium at Spring Hill school.

Tickets will go on sale immediately and can be obtained from either school children or members of the committee. Admission price will be 25c for adults and 10c for children under twelve years of age.

ALLEGED CHICKEN THIEF TO BE SENT TO PENITENTIARY

Wayne Everett, 47, arrested last Saturday for implication in the theft of fifty-eight chickens from the farm of Charles Sheridan, Paintersville Road, will be returned to the Ohio State prison farm at London, O., from which he escaped in July, 1925, to complete a one to twenty year sentence, according to Prosecutor J. Carl Marshall.

Sheriff Morris Sharp was notified Thursday by officials at Ohio State Penitentiary that it is optional whether Everett is returned to resume his prison term or face a charge of grand larceny in Greene County courts.

Letters were received by the sheriff from D. J. Bonzo, parole and record clerk at the penitentiary and F. M. Current, Bertillion superintendent, that Everett had escaped from London, July 19. Descriptions also tallied.

The chicken theft charge will not be pressed against him at this time since Everett has a longer term to serve of his sentence by Chillicothe courts for auto tire thefts than could be imposed in Greene County, it is said. Expense of the trial will also be saved.

Everett had served only four months of his sentence at London when he made his escape.

Wade Allen, colored, and Elmer Sharp, alleged companions of Everett, have been bound over to Common Pleas Court and are in county jail, awaiting grand jury action on chicken theft charges.

AS A BANKER SEES IT.

WITH the advent of the new year there has been no lack of retrospect and phophecy, emanating from all manner of sources and received with all degrees of credulence and enthusiasm. Before the season on such things closes, it might not be inappropriate to consider the judgment of a prominent eastern banker, whose position entitles him to an opinion.

The financier in question is James S. Alexander, chairman of the board of directors of the National Bank of Commerce of New York. In an address prepared for delivery before annual meeting of the Shareholders he summarized the state of affairs during the year just commencing.

Real estate activity, by which he presumably means booms in real estate, should encounter a check, involving "a moderate recession of building and construction." Against this tendency working toward less employment are the "offsetting influences" of prospective stable prices, a "marked betterment of the undertone in agriculture" improvement of the general situation in foreign lands, and a well-sustained export demand for American products.

"Business plans for the new year," Mr. Alexander concludes, "may be made with confidence in a continuation of proseprity, but with due allowance for the presence of factors which suggest that 1926 should not be expected to show any great gain over 1925."

Most people will be satisfied without any great gain over the past year. Nineteen twenty-five was a good year in almost all lines of activity, with the possible exception of agriculture, and even in farming it was admittedly better than other years within the memory of men now living.

Observers in every field seem in virtual agreement as to the prospect for 1926 It looks good to them.

THE SALT OF THE EARTH.

"IT IS A RARE accomplishment to fit into people's moods, to know when to speak and when to be silent, when and how to do things, when to stay and when to go. We are fond of people who exercise that accomplishment. They make ideal companions and give life to any social gathering. We call them 'the salt of the earth.' What they really do is to add just enough of themselves to every situation to bring out its highest possibilities."

The words are those of Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of President Coolidge's church, the First Congregational of Washington, D. C. They are not particularly impressive and the idea they clothe is not especially new, but both words and sentiment ring true.

Everyone has known people who were "the salt of the earth." Ever ready to lend a helping hand, they have the faculty of "making themselves at home" and of making others feel at home. They are kind and unselfish, sympathetic and forgiving, cheerful and loyal.

They come into our lives and we accept them as though we had an undisputed right to their acquaintance and friendship. We receive the incalculable benefits of their personal contacts with us as a matter of course. And then when they are gone, when time or distance or death has taken them from us, it dawns upon us that here were rare personalities whose worth we did not appreciate.

After all it brings no glow of satisfaction or pleasure to a man that his friends shall gather round his bier and exchange laudatory comment. He has neither eyes to see nor ears to listen.

If you know a man who is the salt of the earth, tell him what you think of him now. Such unprecedented appreciation may fluster him, but he will survive the shock.

MONEY TO BURN.

A MAN might light his cigar with a $10 bill to show his supreme disregard for its value and be excused for a bit of asininity that hurts only himself. If he burned a bushel basket full of $10 bills every morning of the year, an insanity commission would look into his mental condition. Somebody would call for the help of the army, navy and police force of the nation. Yet, says Collier's, that is exactly what the United States is permitting with its forest reserves where fires impose a loss equivalent to $100,000 daily. Of the 92,000 forest fires last year, "the perfect fools among us," to use Collier's phrase, started 24,000, all of which were preventable.

THRIFT IS A DUTY.

THE fifth annual observance of national thrift week should be more earnest than its predecessors, because the economic situation today is of a character to emphasize the value of thrift.

The benefit of saving has been brought home recently to thousands who previously had given it little thought, and they will be in a receptive mood for the lessons which the civic organizations, the banks and insurance companies are to teach in connection with thrift week.

Thrift does not simply mean putting money in the bank. It calls for protecting one's dependents through life insurance, and in making oneself independent of the landlord by owning a home. Special days have been designated for the consideration of such things as these.

During the war thrift was urged for patriotic reasons. Practice of it today is no less patriotic, because to do that which makes for a greater America is patriotism of the highest sort, and those countries which had the thriftiest inhabitants have always been the greatest.

THE HAPPY HOUSEKEEPER

I have been looking over a pile of letters received from my Reader Friends, preparatory to burning them up—for I never keep letters. It is seldom, indeed, that I have time even to look them over again, after answering them, but today I did so with a purpose: I wanted to gauge the happiness of each writer through her letter.

Many of these housekeeper-correspondents expressed either contentment or dissatisfaction with life, in so many words. Others unconsciously expressed one of these two states of mind by such sentences as: "When I left the office to marry, I thought I'd find housework dull—but instead I find it most exciting!" "It is such fun to master one branch of housekeeping after another." Or "I never seem to catch up with my treadwheel of work." "I am tired all the time."

Whenever I came across one of the cheery letters, I studied it in the hope of finding why its sender was an optimist. And this is the discovery I made: That invariably the happy letter-writers mentioned some other interest beside their housework. These happy women were women who had many interests. Along with the request for some rare recipe, or a query about removing some stain, these optimistic correspondents generally mentioned some side interest—some other kind of work or play in which they were absorbed quite apart from their household duties. Here are several of the outside pursuits mentioned: ("quoted in the correspondents own words):

"I love my cooking, but I am equally as much in love with knitting. I'd rather sit and knit in the evenings than go to the movies." "Thank you for the recipes. Some day I am going to ask your help on new ideas for entertaining. I am a semi-invalid, more or less tied to my home—so entertaining my friends is my greatest joy. I love to plan new wrinkles for guest meals." "Please give me directions for crocheting a rag rug. You were the first one to interest me in rug-making—through an article on hooked rugs by you, printed several years ago. Now I can hardly rush my house ork fast enough to get back to rug-making! It brings me money, too." "Please give me a good brass polish formula. I raise canaries (brass cages), and it keeps me happy and busy every minute I am not cooking or cleaning."

Need I add more testimony to prove that The Happy Housekeeper is she whose life is packed full of many interests.

PLEASURE AND TROUBLE

Pleasure and trouble. This curious pair
Man is apt to encounter most anywhere,
And strangely enough, though it's truth I tell,
Neither is easy to handle well.
Though one is bitter and one is sweet,
Each is a dangerous foe to meet.

Trouble is vulgar and coarse and rough,
Roaring with bluster and bold with bluff,
Sometimes cruel, and sometimes stern,
Giving man nothing but what he'll earn,
But he who will battle him face to face
Shall come from the struggle with added grace.

Pleasure is subtle, with smirks and smiles
And false sweet thrilling and countless wiles;
It steals man's senses or makes him proud
And sets him strutting before the crowd.
Trouble is bitter, but pleasure can
And does work havoc with many a man.

It's hard to be brave in the face of care,
But it's harder to stand when your skies are fair
With your feet on the ground and your senses cool,
Refusing, though tempted, to play the fool,
Trouble's a tyrant, but pleasure lays
Its pitfalls for men in a thousand ways.

CLEAN UP AS YOU GO

Opposing generals in a war have no sentiment. The job of each alike is to win.

Each knows that light equipment may turn the tide at a critical moment.

He who enters a new day with work half finished, that could have been finished, drags baggage behind him that slows him up.

If you clean up as you go, you know all the time that you are going.

Things left unfinished cause you worry. Worry robs and kills. Things that you dream about, think about and plan, stimulate and inspire you.

Cean up as you go.

That means building and building—bigger and better.

The executive can harbor no unfinished business. His business is that of gaining port, unloading, reloading and—on with the game!

That must mean—clean up as you go.

Events are either a thing of the past or else something very much of the present. You can't warm them over as you would a Christmas turkey!

We must all of us have much of the conqueror in us. We must keep passing on for new worlds. If we stay with old worlds behind, thick in dispute, we become lost and entangled.

Clean up as you go.

Then everything will be faced new each day. Your life background will have mellowed, your experience richened—and you will walk ahead with your chin up!

STOP ITCHING SKIN

Zemo the Clean, Antiseptic Liquid, Gives Prompt Relief

There is one safe, dependable treatment that relieves itching torture and that cleanses and soothes the skin. Soon after the first application of Zemo you will find that irritations, Pimples, Blackheads, Eczema, Blotches, Ringworm and similar skin troubles will disappear.

Zemo is all that is needed, for it banishes most skin eruptions, makes the skin soft, smooth and healthy. It is a non-greasy, disappearing liquid that may be applied during the day. Ask your druggist for a small size 60c or large bottle $1.00.

THE Bread and Butter Wife

By Violet Dare

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

SALLY LEE, an attractive young public stenographer, returns to work after marrying

TOM PORTER, a young real-estate salesman, to help tide him over a jobless period. He resents her success, they quarrel, and she gets a job in a fashionable hotel in Atlantic City where she meets

ELLIOT DANE, a former acquaintance. Disturbed by his ardent attentions, she writes to her husband begging him to let her come back.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XXIV—A RACE WITH PRIDE

EACH morning as Sally hurried down the mezzanine to the corner where her desk was, she glanced around hurriedly to see if there was a letter there from Tom. And each time that she was disappointed, she braced her shoulders resolutely and said to herself "He doesn't want you. You'll have to forget him, that's all."

VIOLET DARE

So it was a merry companion, reckless in her determination to be gay and light-hearted that Dane called for one afternoon.

"I am going to take dictation tonight," Sally told him, her eyes sparkling, "from a man who controls simply oddles and oodles of banks. He's supposed to be an awful crank, so they're giving me an afternoon's rest to prepare me for the struggle."

"Great," said Dane. "Let's go swimming."

"Haven't a bathing suit. Can I rent one?"

"I should say not. Just let me think of those little details. I saw a suit in a shop down the Boardwalk a little way and as soon as I saw it I thought how proud I'd be to go swimming beside that suit. And the only person I know who's as cute as that suit is is you. So, you'll just have to let me have the pleasure of buying it for you."

Sally laughed at his ridiculous reasoning. Was he winding a net of indebtedness around her with which to draw her to him later on? Or was this the way men of means always treated girls. She wished that she knew. She didn't want to be awkward or uncouth or middle-class, and yet it didn't seem just right for him to be buying clothes for her.

She was so delighted though when she saw the soft little checked, knitted suit with a brilliant orange rubber cape to wear on the beach that she forgot all her worries. Skipping along the sands, her hand in Elliot's, she gasped with fright when he called to her, "Come on in; you won't feel it so much if you get wet all over right away." Plunging into the onrushing wave, the burning salt water poured down her throat and nostrils and Sally, gasping, came up feeling too weak to stand.

She felt a protecting arm around her for a moment and then they glided off in the water together, she and Elliot.

After awhile he taught her to float on her back, but it was hard for her to conquer her fear of the water. She clung to his hand, nervously, and frequently drew close to him when a big wave approached that she might borrow of his strength for protection.

By the time that they went out on the beach to rest under one of the big striped umbrellas, there was a feeling almost of kinship between them. Sally didn't speak; she merely played with the sand and made no move to object when Dane moved over closer to her. It was all so gay, so companionable.

It was just the sort of thing for which Sally had always wished, and now that she had it her thoughts were all back in a little flat in the Bronx. The beach with its gaudy umbrellas, its laughing, playing crowds, the sparkling, plunging sea meant little to her now. It seemed as though the whole world were mocking her, for just down the beach a little way a band was playing. "If I can't have the one I want, I don't want the one I can get."

"What's the matter, sweetheart? Aren't you happy?" Dane asked, and Sally turned to him, struggling to smile through the mist of tears that was gathering in her eyes.

"It's not your fault if I'm not. Oh, you've been wonderful to me. How can I ever thank you?"

He looked at her coldly, calculatingly, as she spoke.

"I don't know just how to take you," he finally said slowly. "You seem such a child—and yet I know you are not. One minute you are all ice—and the next you are all fire. Some day the ice will melt, and then you will be mine. I will wait."

He took her hand and pulled her into the breakers.

Abstractedly, hardly hearing what he said, Sally went on sifting the sand through her fingers, watching it glisten in the sunshine.

"I am not a marrying man," he went on slowly, as though carefully weighing his words. "But I would be very good to you. I think you realize that. I never before met anyone I liked so much. Come—Sally—tell me you understand."

Suddenly Sally looked up, her eyes blazing.

"You dare to say that to me? Oh how could you? Just because there is no man here to protect me, you think you can insult me. Oh don't ever speak to me again. I might have known."

She was not a born flirt; she would have to find some other way of crowding her husband out of her memory.

Monday—A Face in the Crowd.

MEMORIAL SERVICE CONDUCTED BY CLUB FOR LATE MRS. FESS

A short but impressive memorial service for Mrs. Eva Thomas Fess, wife of Senator S. D. Fess, was held at the home of Mrs. Steele Poague, Tuesday afternoon preceding the regular meeting of the Junior Woman's Club, of which Mrs. Fess was a valued member.

Mrs. Mary Little Dice, president of the club, spoke of the great love and admiration in which Mrs. Fess was held by club members. Mrs. Dice's last conversation with Mrs. Fess, just a week prior to her departure for Washington, seemed to be indicative of her splendid character. It expressed her pleasure in co-operating with her husband in his plans and duties; her hospitality and her love for her home, her abundant happiness and her feeling of unworthiness of the cup, overflowing with "the good things" which she was enjoying.

The next speaker, Mrs. W. A. Humphrey, of Yellow Springs, spoke of Mrs. Fess as a friend and neighbor, who had endeared herself to the whole community, each one of whom, at the news of her death, feeling the loss in a personal way. She spoke of several incidents in the life of Mrs. Fess which stood out as vivid pictures. "One was the occasion of her graduation from Antioch College, wheer as the wife of the president, along with the numerous duties which this entailed, she found time for conscientious and faithful study. She was always the gracious and charming hostess when she and her husband received their friends on many delightful occasions. Mrs. Fess, after many brilliant seasons spent in Washington society, never lost her interest in the simple village entertainments which Yellow Springs afforded her on her return home. Perhaps the most vivid picture of Mrs. Fess was the one in her flower garden where the sweet memory of her as the guardian of the flowers will ever blossom and remain fresh among the treasures of our hearts."

Mrs. Fess in relation to the college student body at Antioch was the subject taken by Mrs. S. O. Hale, who was a student during the Fess regime. "Mrs. Fess' friends and admirers were not numbered alone among people of her own age and station, but among all with whom she came in contact, particularly the student body. One of her striking traits was her spirit of true fellowship with them, mingling with them in the class-room, on the campus, and taking her part in the various activities of the college as well as performing the many and varied duties encumbent on the wife of a college president. She dispensed hospitality to the crowds of young people in a manner that bespoke a genuine welcome and an interest in each student. Her influence was of such a refining and uplifting character that the students of a decade or more ago were indeed fortunate to have had contact with such a beautiful life as was hers."

The last speaker, Mrs. B. R. McClellan, presented Mrs. Fess as a fellow club member, who in her fifteen years of membership, was ever faithful in her performance of club duties, presenting in that time many discussions on literature, travel, biography, science, fact and fantasy. "These papers Mrs. Fess gave evinced her entire willingness to search for information that might be attractively compiled and adorned by her trained and cultured mind. When absent from the meetings she never failed to forward her carefully prepared and clearly worded papers that the club members might have the benefit of her intelligent and thorough research. In the death of Mrs. Fess, the Junior Woman's Club has lost a most faithful, sincere and capable member, whose work was an honor to its high ideals and whose example in this respect, club members would do well to emulate."

MRS. SARAH MOLER DIES ON THURSDAY

Mrs. Sarah A. Moler, 80, died at the home of her son, George C. Smith, Alpha, Thursday night at 11:50 o'clock. Death was hastened by a fall she received a few weeks ago, when she fractured her hip. Her condition was serious since the accident due to her advanced age.

Surviving are three sons: George C. Smith, with whom she made her home; B. G. Smith, Dayton; and J. W. Smith, Pasendena, Calif. Her first husband was Benjamin Grimes Smith. Her second husband, Mr. Moler preceded her in death twenty-five years.

Mrs. Moler was a member of the Presbyterian Church, Dayton. She was born in Greene County and spent all of her life in Montgomery and Greene Counties. She was the last surviving member of her immediate family.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Smith home with interment in Mt. Zion Park Cemetery.

ASTHMA OF JAS. RAMSEY IS GONE

"I can truthfully say that I have not had an attack of asthma in three years," says James Ramsey, well known miner of Hemlock, Ohio, and full credit is due to taking Kerker's Asthma and Hay Fever Remedy. I would not take $10,000 for the good it did me. I have not lost a night's sleep since taking the first bottle.

RESERVE SEATS FOR XENIA ROOTERS AT MIAMISBURG GAME

Principal Spencer Shank, of Central High School, has been advised by officials of Miamisburg High that a block of fifty seats has been reserved for Xenia rooters attending the Central-Miamisburg basketball game in Miamisburg Saturday night.

Unless spoken for, seats in this section will be placed on sale after 8 o'clock that night, so Xenians should make their reservations as early as possible.

So much interest has been evidenced in the Xenia-Burger contest almost every available seat has been taken, it is said. Enthusiasm over Miamisburg's team this season has reached a high peak because of the unbroken seven-game winning streak amassed by Coach Ness' tossers.

A special car has been chartered to convey Central followers to Troy Friday night when Central will meet the Trojans in the first game on its week-end trip. The car leaves Xenia over the Dayton and Xenia interurban line at 6 p.m. Roundtrip tickets may be purchased at Tilton's "33" Clothing store for $1.65.

ST. BRIGIDS TO PLAY URBANA HIGH TEAM

St. Brigid High School basketball team will attempt to inscribe its name in the win column for the first time this season in the game with St. Marys High at Kearney Hall, Urbana, Friday night.

Locals have played two games this season losing both, but appear evenly matched with Urbana. Comparison of scores in games with St. Raphael High of Springfield, show Urbana and St. Brigid High are about equal in defensive and offensive strength.

St. Brigid is represented by a light but fast team this season and with advantages of strenuous practice sessions this week hopes to show an improved form against Urbana.

MOTHER OF XENIAN DIES AT FREMONT

Word has been received by friends of the death of Mrs. William Baker, mother of Mrs. C. A. Weaver, W. Market St., which occurred at her home in Fremont, O., Thursday noon. Her death was caused by pleuro-pneumonia.

Mrs. Weaver, who left a month ago for Tampa, Fla., with her son, to spend the winter with Mr. Weaver, arrived at her mother's bedside Sunday. Mrs. Baker's son, Harry Baker, California, arrived Friday. Funeral services and interment will be in Fremont.

INDICTED MAN IS SOUGHT ON CHARGE

Prosecutor J. Carl Marshall is investigating the disappearance of Howard Wilcox, indicted for grand larceny the theft of $65 from Robert Franklin, Jamestown, September 10, 1925.

Wilcox was released from custody under bond of several hundred dollars before his case was considered by the grand jury and cannot be located.

Prosecutor Marshal expressed the opinion, Wilcox has enlisted in the army. He is uncertain whether his enlistment dates back to a period before his arrest or was made since his indictment by the grand jury.

Sayre & Hemphill's

An Old English Recipe! Wonderful Eatin!!

We've just received 75 lbs. of English Shelled Walnuts from FRANCE! Sounds odd but that's the fact! They're the kind that sell for $1.25 lb. but these 75 lbs. we're selling at 89c! In order to make them into a splendid delicacy first STEAM them a bit then put a pan full in a hot oven with a bit of butter and a lotta salt! Stir once in awhile and take out when they start to brown. SOME eatin!

New Records!

They come IN so fast and go OUT so fast I just don't get a chance to try as many as I'd like or KEEP the ones I'd like to take home. Still I suppose it's good business to get rid of 'em fast for after all that's why I get them. To sell again.

Columbia Vacuum Bottles Smack dab New Only $1.00!

They're made right here in the United States and are worth a whole lot MORE than a dollar. There's no use in my suggesting how useful they are for school children or for the man who totes his lunch, for all of you know that already. So I'll just drop the subject.

Should Coughs Be Mentioned!

Am I intruding on a private matter when I suggest you should do all you can to get rid of it? Do you really feel that you should KEEP your cough?

How Far Will Women Go!!

There's no doubt about it all! Women are on the MOVE and are GOING—SOME place!

They have not only kicked OVER the traces but have kicked OFF the traces themselves! And so far:

I AM FOR THEM!

Looking back to the stone AGE when a woman was looked upon only as necessary equipment; through the Grecian Classic Period, when they became Valuable as Ornaments; thence on to the much later epoch, whn they caught step with man's LARGER INTERESTS until NOW days they seem to be plowing just as broad and straight a furrow in Life as men do themselves.

In the matter of resistance to Trouble, Disease and Weather, they are not only EQUAL to man, but they've got him skun!

I'd dote on seeing a man dressed with as little as women wear, step out in January weather and go very far without cold on the lungs—or Pneumonia! Yet Women actually BLOOM these days.

How much MORE do they intend to do WITHOUT! (which has nothing to do with drug stores, but gets something off my mind which has been bothering me.)

DOC. SAYRE.

Shorty Says:—

What Doc says is RIGHT! But what OF it?

It's MY opinion that Doc is merely trying to jolly the wimmen folks and gettem in the habit of tradin' here.

However, there's at least ONE thing that a woman will never equal man—but I'll be derned if I'm going to explain it here.

And personally I don't approve of this eggin them on. They've got our votes, pants, razors, hair-cuts, jobs and tobacco, NOW and if they're encouraged, Gosh!

Never Again!! Cut Square in Half!!! Closing them Out!

Not no more! NOT EVER! I'm OFF of this stocking a line o fLadies' Hand Bags! I had a bum hunch that I could sell some of the real HIGH grade sort here in the store but I guess I don't know how to put 'em over so in order to "get out from under," you can just crowd in here and look at them and if the price suits you JUST PAY ME HALF of what they're marked! and they're marked from $4 to $25.00. About 18 of them!

AMUNDSEN PLANS TO PLANT FLAG AT POLE BY DROPPING IT FROM AIR

Rome, Jan. 22 — Roald Amundsen will not attempt a landing at the North Pole if he succeeds in flying a dirigible there next summer but will hover over it and drop a pointed steel pole, so balanced that the Norwegian flag it carries will fly at the top.

This, according to Colonel Nobile, constructor of the Amundsen dirigible, will avoid the difficulty of anchoring on an icy surface.

"Although feasible, anchoring would be wholly useless," Colonel Nobile told the United Press in an exclusive interview. "It would give us no scientific advantage. I think the dirigible will be perfectly capable of remaining still for hours very close to the ground, which would make observations for locating the precise Pole comparatively easy."

Surroundings to determine the depth of the sea, according to Nobile, will be effected by dropping depth charges from the airship and recording the time between the explosion and the echo from the ocean bed. He also explained that a new heating system will be employed, taking advantage of heat chemically produced by the exposure of certain metals to humidity.

Most of the personnel, chosen with great care and after strenuous physical examination, were with Amundsen on the polar vessel "Maud" when he previously attempted to read the Pole. The "Maud" was recently sold in Seattle for debt.

Colonel Nobile said that Amundsen woud probably not fly from Rome, but would join the ship at Oslo.

LIEUTENANT DAVIS GIVEN PROMOTION; NEW OFFCER NAMED

Resignation of Lieutenant J. K. Berger from Company L, 147th., Infantry and changes in the personnel of company officers effective this week, have been announced by Captain Leroy V. John, company commander.

Second Lieutenant Lawrence A. Davis has been promoted to first lieutenant to succeed Lieutenant Berger, whose resignation was accepted by the adjutant general effective this week. Lieutenant Berger has held his commission since the company was organized here.

Lieutenant Davis has also been a member of the company since its organization, receiving his second lieutenant commission recently from the rank of sergeant. He will be succeeded as second lieutenant by Lieutenant Ozni H. Cornwell, O. S. and S. O. Home, who has obtained a transfer of his commission from Company D, machine gun unit, 166th. Infantry, Marion, Ohio.

Lieutenant Cornwell came here recently to accept the position of chief electrician at the O. S. and S. O. Home. He has a long military record, having first entered the service in 1913 in the old Fourth Ohio Infantry. He served during the Mexican border trouble as a sergeant and went overseas with his regiment when it was converted into the 166th. Infantry. He served during the World War with a machine gun company and received his commission as second lieutenant shortly before close of the war.

BRITISH ROYALTY PLANS TO HOLD FOUR COURTS THIS YEAR

London, Jan. 22 — Three "courts" will be held by Their Majesties at Buckingham Palace this summer and, if possible, one at Holyrood Palace in Edinburgh, according to the Lord Chamberlain's formal announcement.

Americans who desire to be presented to the King and Queen will, as usual, make their arrangements through the American Ambassador. Americans who are presented at Court get nothing but an interesting experience, but British ladies who receive that honor enjoy thereafter a very substantial social privilege. In any court in the world the British ambassador at that particular capital is in duty bound to present them to the King or Queen if they indicate their desire for such an honor. This enables the Englishwoman in Rome or Madrid or Tokio to step immediately into the most "exclusive" circles.

According to the Lord Chancellor's announcement, there will be no variation from the usual custom in the preliminaries. That is to say:

No lady may apply for the privilege of being summoned to Court.

She can only be presented if some lady who has already been presented applies on her behalf to the Lord Chamberlain for a summons.

Having received a summons, and full instructions as to dress and etiquette, the happy recipient is expected to appear on the date assigned her.

Ladies may be accompanied to Court by their husbands if the latter have already been presented.

LAME BACK OR LUMBAGO PAIN

"Heet" Relieves Instantly

Use applicator attached to cork, and brush "Heet" over the pain area. Immediately, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of your lame, aching back. Besides, "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure.

"Heet" instantly relieves rheumatic or neuritis pain in any joint, muscle or nerve, whether in the arm, shoulder, neck, legs or body. "Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.—Adv.

Columbus, O., Jan. 22—Peculiar characteristics of the common variety of cold in the head or chest have been discovered in a nation wide survey by the United States Public Health Service.

The principal conclusions reached from statistics obtained are that there is no apparent way to dodge the cold and no very effective way of curing it, according to H. Shindle Wingert, head of the student health service at Ohio State University, who has aided in compiling statistics.

Among the other important deductions reached, Wingert said, is the fact that most persons are afflicted with a set number of colds each year. The average is three colds a year, Wingert declared.

Contrary to popular opinion, statistics of the survey have shown that removal of the tonsils accomplishes very little in preventing colds.

Violent outdoor exercise appears to aid rather than hinder contraction of colds, Wingert said. This was due to improper care in the stage of fatigue immediately following the exercise, he explained.

Draughts, perspiration, mouth breathing, tobacco, bathing and the style of footwear apparently have no importance in contracting the disease, according to statistics.

The economic loss caused by colds is estimated at approximately $2,000,000,000 annually, Wingert said, because of loss of time from work.

Reports received every two weeks from 10,000 persons in all sections of the country were used in forming these conclusions.

Reports were also obtained from heads of families of officers in the medical corps of the Army and Navy and of the public health service.

Colds sweep the country in waves and when Columbus people stay home from work with aching heads and scarlet noses, the same is true in Boston, New Orleans, Tuscon and Berkley.

From the reports it seems that locality and climatic conditions have practically nothing to do with cold epidemics.

Although it is believed colds are caused by certain germs, the particular germ has not been discovered and isolated for study, Wingert said.

MASONS INSTALL OFFICERS AT MEET

Installation of officers for 1926 featured the banquet meeting of the Yellow Springs Masonic lodge this week, with nearly 150 Masons, their wives and friends attending the affair.

Paul C. Martin, Springfield, delivered the principal address of the evening on the "Life of Lincoln" following installation work.

All new officers took office with the exception of John P. Confer, newly elected Tyler, who failed to attend because of illness. Judge Harry Gram, Springfield, was the installation officer.

VOLUNTEERS FIGHT FIRE IN RESIDENCE

Citizens of Spring Valley enrolled as voluntary firemen, extinguished a small blaze at the residence of George Benson, Walnut St., Spring Valley, at 8:30 Thursday night.

Mantle piece in the living room caught afire from an over-heated stove but was torn out of its fastening before the blaze could spread. Damage was small, fully insured.

SISTER OF XENIAN CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. R.S.Gregory, Chicago, Ill., sister of Mrs. John O'Brien, Hill St., who spent several weeks visiting her last summer, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Thompson, Indianapolis, Ind., Thursday.

Funeral services and burial will take place at Muncie, Ind., Saturday morning.

Church Notices

CHURCH OF THE NAZERENE
Corner Orange and Belibrook Sts.
F. H. Landgrabe, Pastor.

Sabbath School, 9:15 a.m.; morning worship 10:30; theme: "The Borrowed Axe; or Lost Power." At this service the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed; evening worship, 7:00; theme: "The Sale of the Birthright;" prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 5:30.

Revival meeting with the Rev. W. R. Cain, Witchita, Kan., announced to begin at this church next Sunday, has been postponed one week. Services will begin January 31 and continue until February 14. The Rev. Mr. Cain is at present in a meeting with the former pastor of the local church the Rev. W. R. Gilley, at Warren, Pa. Owing to the interest in the meeting there, services will continue a week longer than at first planned, making it necessary for the local church here to postpone their meeting a week.

The church where everyone is welcome.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Market and King Sts.
Wm. H. Tilford, Pastor.

Morning worship, 10:30 a.m.; sermon subject: "Venturing for Jesus." Special music by the Choir. Evening 7:00 p.m., "What God Expects of Us." Sunday School, 9:15 a.m. Orchestra plays at this service. Public invited.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY
127 E. Second St.

Sunday services, 10:45 a.m.; subject: "Truth." Sunday School to which children up to the age of twenty years are admitted at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday evening testimonial meeting, 7:30 o'clock. The reading room is open Monday, Wednesday and Saturday except on legal holidays from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. To each of these services and to the reading room the public is cordially invited.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
R. E. Brown, Pastor.

Sunday School, 9:30 a.m.; morning worship, 10:30. Sermon on "Jesus' Challenge to the Impossible." Evening service at 7. Gospel hymns—good fellowship—a gospel sermon. You will find a welcome.

FIRST REFORMED CHURCH
N. Detroit at Church St.
David A. Sellers, Pastor.

9:15 a.m., Bible School. Let us keep up last Sunday's good record. 10:30 a.m., morning worship. The Ministerial Relief Campaign will be presented by the Rev. Walter B. Leis, of Fairfield, O. 4:00 p.m., Vesper service. The Wittenberg Men's Quartet will sing several numbers; Prof. F. L. Bach will play the organ and the address will be given by the Rev. V. F. Brown, D. D., pastor of Trinity M. E. Church. Everybody welcome.

TRINITY METHODIST
V. F. Brown, Pastor.

Where do you go next? What plans have you for Sunday? Listen—you are invited to attend the following services at Trinity; will you accept? Sunday School, with a good orchestra and classes suited to all, 9:15 a.m. Public worship, 10:30 a.m., with sermon by the pastor. Theme: "The Christian Home, or Salvation for the Entire Family." Good music. Epworth League, 6:15 p.m. At 7 p.m., we join with First Church for the evening worship, and want you there. Midweek service, 7:30 Wednesday evening. Come and bring a friend.

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH
W. Main St.
W. H. Naffziger, Pastor.

Sunday School, 9:15 a.m.; morning preaching, 10:30.

CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Church School at 9:15 a.m. Morning service and sermon at 10:30. Subject: "Invest in Safe Securities." The splendid work of social service will be remembered next Sunday.

THE U. B. CHURCH
West Third St.
A. J. Furstenberger, Pastor.

Sunday School at 9:30 a.m. Worship at 10:30 a.m.; subject of the pastor: "Soul Prosperity." Christian Endeavor at 6 p.m., Sunday evening service. Pastor's subject: "Up to the Brim." Class Meeting, Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. followed by the pastor's lesson on the Acts of the Apostles. Brotherhood Day, Sunday, January 31.

FRIENDS CHURCH
Chestnut and High Sts.
Russell Burkett, Pastor.

Sabbath morning services, 9:30 to 11:30; teaching period, 9:30 to 10:30; lesson, John 4:1-42; classes for all ages, John Dymond Supt.; morning worship, 10:30; Rev. Harold Douglas will preach at this time. Mr. Douglas is pastor of the Friends Church at Dayton. Christian Endeavor, 6 p.m., Grover Crawford, leader; evening services at 7 o'clock. Otis Pramer will have charge of this service.

Missionary society will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. J. Lane on High St. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening, 7 o'clock. You are cordially invited to all these services.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
Frank W. Stanton, Pastor.

Sunday School will convene at 9:15 a.m. There is a rising tide in the school. At 10:30, Dr. Swank, our new district superintendent, will occupy the pulpit. We want the entire membership to hear him, as he is one of our great preachers. At 6:00 p.m., the Mothers of the W. F. M. S. will entertain the daughters at a tea, celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of young people's work. At 7:00 o'clock a sacred pageant entitled, "The Challenge of The Cross," will be given in the auditorium. Trinity church will attend, and the public is cordially invited.

The Epworth League will not be held at the usual time, on account of the Mother and Daughter's Tea.

Wednesday night a special prayer service in the interest of the evangelistic services.

The Only Pure Milk

Is Milk That Has Been

PASTEURIZED

Raw milk, in spite of the most careful handling, is not free from germs. This has been fully demonstrated by the most careful scientific tests. Proper pasteurization of milk destroys any pathogenic organisms which might be present in raw milk and these bacteria cause tuberculosis, typhoid, scarlet fever and diphtheria. On the other hard pasteurization does not destroy the natural healthful organisms in the milk nor does it mar its fresh, sweet flavor.

Since milk is absolutely essential to the physical development of children and the health of adults it is imperative that safe milk be available at all times.

Customers-Read This Notice

When you desire cream, butter, butter milk, cottage cheese or any of our products simply leave a note in the milk bottle and the drivers will fill your order from the truck. All our products are carried on our trucks every day.

"Not Possible To Classify" — By Mack Sauer

CAMERAPHONE—looks like a camera, plays any standard phonograph record, $15. R. WURLITZER Co., 1049 Central Ave.

You can play "The Prisoner's Song" on it and get a picture of yourself among those mentioned in that interesting line "We move to the jail tomorrow." Speaking of "The Prisoner's Song," we favor giving it a thirty days jail sentence.

PLAIN TRUTH

"You may say what you wish,
But to me," said Arch,
"The Prisoner's Song'
Was the wedding march."

Put on "Follow the Swallows," drink a glass of home brew while the thing plays, and it will keep a record of the swallows for you. It makes records of things that take place, but you can't play them.

CRANK IT.

"Needles and pins,
Needles and pins,
When a man cranks it,
The music begins.

You can play "The Parade of The Wooden Soldiers" on it and take a picture of them parading. You can play the "William Tell" overture and get a snap shot of William Tell shooting the apple off the boy's head.

It looks like a camera, but, of course, there will have to be some developing done before pictures made with it can be shown. It carries a reproducer, but music is the only thing it will reproduce.

REMEMBER IT?

Speaking of phonographs,
Where, oh, where,
Is that old, old song—
"The preacher and the Bear?"

After all, many a photograph has proven a talking machine to a man in a divorce case. And we're wondering what is going to happen to poor old Uncle Bim of Andy Gump fame. Are you following that interesting comic daily?

The day you were wed
You stepped along
To the plaintive tunes
Of a prisoner's song.

Charles L. Darlington,
Attorney for Administratrix

Jan. 22, 29, Feb. 5, 12.

State of Ohio, Department of Commerce Division of Insurance, Columbus, March 1, 1925.—As Superintendent of Insurance of the State of Ohio, I hereby certify that the American Equitable Assurance Company of New York, whose principal office is located at New York, in the State of New York, has complied in all respects with the laws of this State applicable to it and is authorized during the current year to transact in this State its appropriate business of insurance as specified in its license. Its financial condition on the thirty-first day of December of the year next preceding the date hereof, is shown by its annual statement to have been as follows, aggregate amount of available assets, $2,818,113.98; aggregate amount of liabilities (except capital), including re-insurance reserve, $1,508,967.42; net assets, $1,309,146.56; amount of actual paid-up capital, $500,000.00; surplus, $809,146.56; amount of income for the year in cash, $1,835,110.88; amount of expenditures for the year in cash, $1,084,956.49.

LICENSES INDICATE CANINE INCREASE

Checkup by County Auditor R. O. Wead disclosed 2,804 dog licenses had been sold in Greene County this year by January 20, the final day they could be purchased without penalty. This represents an increase of nearly 600 licenses over 1925.

A few complaints were registered by dog tag purchasers when they were required to pay the $1 penalty imposed upon owners buying tags after the last day.

Auditor Wead has no recourse he said but to charge the penalty under a provision of the law passed by the state legislature.

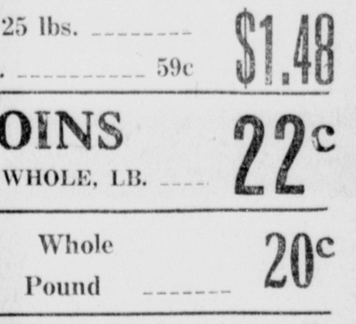

Male dog licenses now cost $2 and female licenses $4.

HE PRIZES EARS

Cleveland, O., Jan. 21—Joseph Vaniek, of Cleveland, values his ears at $15,000 according to a suit filed by him today against the Cleveland, Ashtabula and Conneaut Bus Company.

Vaniek alleged that while riding on one of the company's busses from Erie to Ashtabula, the bus became stalled twice and on account of the lack of heat his ears were frozen.

He charged negligence.

ECZEMA

If you just realized how easy it is to stop fiery, itching, burning eczema by simply building up the red-blood-cells in your blood with S. S. S., you wouldn't waste another minute trying to do it any other way.

That's the only way to relieve irritated, broken out skin of any sort. You lack rich, red blood. Impurities are in your system. The blood is so weak it can't fight back and overcome the enemy, so the impurities break out through the skin.

BRINGING UP FATHER — BY GEORGE McMANUS

COUNTY AGENT WILL SPEAK BEFORE OHIO FARM FEDERATION

J. R. Kimber, Greene County Agriculture Agent, formerly service manager of the Allen County Farm Bureau, will be one of the speakers at the annual meeting, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Columbus, during Farmers' Week. Mr. Kimber will talk Monday afternoon on the practice of selling hogs direct to packers on the basis of yield.

Federation's annual meeting will be held February 1 and 2, the first two days of Farmers' Week. It is the seventh annual convention of the organization and delegates are expected to attend from every Ohio county.

Features of the meeting will be talks by S. H. Thompsin, Illinois, and L. J. Taber, Ohio, leaders, respectively of the National Farm Bureau and Grange. Discussion of farm legislation now pending in Washington will also occupy considerable attention. Special program is being arranged for farm women.

VARIED PROGRAM IS OFFERED FRIDAY BY MUSICAL M'CORDS

Varied program of dramatic and musical effort will feature the appearance of The McCords as the third number on the Xenia High School Lyceum Course in the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium at Central High School Friday night.

Mr. McCord is said to rank with the foremost impersonators now in the entertainment field and is assisted by Mrs. McCord, who will render pianologues, readings and short stories. She is also a gifted vocalist.

Program includes sketches, playlets, vocal efforts, talk songs, pianologues and short stories.

Three numbers remain on the 1925-26 course. Sam Grathwell, lecturer and Lyceum's "peptimist," will appear February 11. Leake's Orchestral Entertainers will be the feature of the fifth number February 19, and the final number march 19 will mark the appearance of Lowell Patton and his artists.

FINAL COLLECTION DAY WAS LARGEST

No estimate could be placed on the total receipts from the December tax collection Friday by County Treasurer F. A. Jackson, but the collection probably is in excess of the December semi-annual collection the year previous, he believes.

Wednesday, the final day, the treasurer's office did probably the biggest business in the period, the collection approximating $86,000.

Checks for thousands of dollars have been received for tax payments which will delay the final announcement of complete figures.

MICHIGAN TO HAVE VISIT FROM WINTER

Detroit, Jan. 21.—An enveloping cold wave that will catapult Michigan thermometers to zero ebore midnight tonight was predicted by the weather bureau here today. It was 27 degrees above zero here at 8 a. m.

A high pressure area, which this morning registered 28 degrees below zero in Manitoba and Saskatchewan is sweping down upon this section, the weather man reported.

Face covered with ugly red pimples

Resinol healed the trouble

Valley Centre, Va., Feb. 14:—"Some time ago my face became covered with little pimples which were red and ugly looking. I tried various remedies, but nothing did me any good until I used Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. I applied this treatment about five times every day and in a remarkably short time I was rid of the trouble. There is nothing like the Resinol treatment!" (Signed) Mrs. M. L. Crickenberger.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE BETTER THAN USUAL

Despite low attendance at Central High School during the past month, attendance of the Xenia City Scoool System as a whole, has been better than usual, according to H. C. Pendry, city superintendent. Attendance figures are based on the month ending January 15.

Figures show that city school attendance, including high schools has been .4 of 1 per cent above normal, Mr. Pendry said.
